

63D INFANTRY DIVISION ASSOCIATION

1975-76

President's Message

Dear Fellow Members:

Ten years last December, the 63D United States Army Reserve Infantry Division, the finest reserve organization in the country, was deactivated and staffs which had worked together many years were scattered, and many individuals with needed talents and abilities were lost to the Reserve program.

However, out of the ashes of that organization we see today Reserve forces in being which are even better trained, better equipped and more combat ready.

And we still have this association to permit us to renew old friendships, to reminisce about past summer camps and week-end drills. But more than that, in the last year, the association has moved forward aggressively as a watchdog of the Reserve program. Combined efforts in letters to legislators and to Active Army personnel involved in the Reserve program have been mounted in several areas. We are concerned with the erosion of Reserve support. We are concerned with public opinion in the Reserve area. As individuals drawn together in a common bond from past experiences, we are becoming a group whose collective voices are heard in the halls of government. Last year, LTC Durwood Hicks, in his presidential message, charged the members with the action necessary to make their voices heard as they swing "from the battlefield and the uniform to the political arena" where "the weapons are your individual and personal thoughts on the future of our country."

Welcome to the Eleventh Annual Dinner Dance of the 63D Division Association. Welcome to another year of fighting for what we know is best for our Nation in this Bicentennial Year, as America celebrates her 200th anniversary. Let us rededicate ourselves to insuring that America shall stay strong and just.

Cordially,

Five years ago, your vast editorial staff began to assemble some of the history of the 63d Infantry Division, both when in combat during World War II and as a U S Army Reserve organization, to pass on to the association membership. Our summary history was followed by more details of the actual activation and a reprint of the first Blood and Fire Newspaper of the division. We followed this issue with the rest of the first paper and then with some of the history as one of the scribes who write for the Army Reservist magazine saw us. Since that issue was published, we have a brief statistical report followed by the lists of attachments and detachments of the 63d Infantry Division while active, for your information. With these 5 issues, we believe the overview is now complete. We hope that additional information on specific units can be loaned to us for future publication.

Highlight of the evening at the 200th Anniversary of the birth of the United States Army for LTC Jimmy S. Gozawa (USAR, Ret) was meeting one of our great military leaders General Omar N. Bradley, our only 5-star general in the Army today. At Jimmy's left is his wife Michiko. Mrs Bradley is between General Bradley and LTC Gozawa. "It was instantaneous, enthusiastic applause and salute as we raised our glasses for a moment to toast this great man," Jimmy told us. We, the former members of the 63d Infantry Division join in that salute.

BOARD OF GOVERNORS- Activity Report

Under the leadership of COL Tommy R. Gilliam, President for 1975-1976, the Board of Governors has met quarterly to conduct such business as may come before the Board and to further the objectives of the U.S. Army Reserve Program.

The Board considered several problem areas of concern relating to proposed changes in the method of furnishing rations to the USAR troop units for week-end drill periods and related matters. In part, because of inquiries made by this Association, proposed changes have not been implemented.

Several discussions were directed towards a Medal of Honor program which could be supported by the Association. It is noted a program has already been established in Northern California.

Ways and means by which the memorabilia of the 63d Infantry Division and its organizational units might best be preserved has been a matter of top priority.

In view of recent trends and the posture of federal agencies and the Administration in Washington, efforts are being made to seek the support of the California Congressional delegation, and in particular those California members who are assigned to the Armed Services Committees, for the U.S. Army Reserve program.

For some, no news is good news. For the 63d Infantry Division Association, again your editorial staff is asking for input for publication. Send us your old stuff so we can share it with our members and help to build our bank of material for a real good history. We will carefully do a real pro type copy job and return each item in perfect shape. No news means we just don't take time to let someone know.

SHIELD: Or, a bend gules between in chief an eagle close of the same ducally crowned and gorged with a collar of the first charged with a Lorraine cross of the second and in base a fusil of the like.

SYMBOLISM

The regiment was organized in 1917 by transfer of men from the 7th. It was a part of the 5th Division, indicated in the arms by the red diamond. The baptism of fire was the taking of Frapelle east of St. Die in the Vosges in the Lorraine. The red bend occurs in the arms of Lorraine. The regiment was in the heavy work at St. Mihiel; this is recalled by the eagle, the device of St. Mihiel.
