This is a pilot? Note blue

Silk scarf, mark of a hot rock.

That parachute I'm wearing is the same one that served my so faithfully in the past. I'm quite devoted to it.

My airplane just becoming airborne on a jato take off. I like this picture; note the name of my little sweet tensity baby wife on the nose.
Those are 1000 pound bombs underneath.

ELSIE
MARIE

F9-218-A

Me and my sweetheart —. If the printing on the nose looks familiar its because I painted it on my self. Its red on a blue background.

Nothing out of the ordinary - .
Just a nice picture of the plane and the clouds. you can also see what the terrain is like.

This was made at sunrise one morning though you could hardly tell it.
Didn't turn out too well.

This was made the day we evacuated the base for the Typhoon. I got soaked to the skin and when the "eye" of the typhoon passed us I took my clothes off to dry out. Hence the picture —.

My house. It isn't much but then we don't pay much rent either.
