We have endeavored to obtain the name of those from the county who have been killed in action and regret any exclusions.

Greetings

TO THE MEN AND WOMEN WHO SO
GALLANTLY SERVED OUR COUNTRY IN THIS MOST TERRIBLE OF ALL CONFLICTS:

As I undertake to greet you for the job so well done, I find words are so shallow and inadequate for the purpose.

I also fully realize that none of you are seeking individual recognition, and that you have the satisfaction of knowing that you have done your part and done it well and are now asking for no more than a place in the society you are returning to.

But as 4th District Commander of the American Legion, I don't feel like I can let the opportunity pass to tell you we, as members of the American Legion, are more than proud of the way you have handled this job and that we stand ready to a man to do what we can for you and yours as you return to your home communities.

Sincerely yours.

4th District Commander

VICE ADMIRAL ADOLPHUS ANDREWS

Denison, Texas, finds many instances recorded in the past and present, to be justly proud of her sons and citizens. During this World War II, they are again distinguishing themselves, making history and winning honors for the Lone Star State.

Vice Admiral Adolphus Andrews, whose distinguished career covers 48 years of naval service, is now retired, but on active duty as senior member of the navy manpower survey board. He has been associated closely, in the past, with three Presidents of the United States and has had many honors conferred upon him.

The highlights of the naval career of Vice Admiral Andrews include many brilliant assignments and accomplishments, but one of the greatest, was that of the head of an organization to protect ships from enemy U-Boats in the earliest days of World War II. His knowledge of undersea warfare made him an authority and the German offensive which rolled down the Atlantic Coast in those early days of 1942, was one of the problems he had to struggle with. The Eastern Sea Frontier, with him at its head, reduced shipping losses from the U-Boat menace. The solution was, to convoy all our ships and the record of achievements were proven in the decline of this loss. Truly, the victory over the U-Boats was one of the chief results in shortening the war.

With the appointment of Vice Admiral Andrews, as American Red Cross Commissioner for the Pacific Ocean area, in July, 1945, (when the full might of the nation was transferred to the Pacific), the Red Cross activities will be ably conducted. As in the many other activities he has led, he will efficiently carry on.

He has received many medals and honors including the Distinguished Service Decoration. His activities during the many years of service to his country include: Assistant Chief of Staff of the Commander in Chief Atlantic Fleet; Member of the American representation of the Geneva preparatory commission on limitation of armaments; Commandant, submarine base, New London; Captain USS Texas; Chief of Staff of the Commander in Chief of the U. S. Fleet; Chief of Staff Naval War College; Chief of the bureau of navigation and member of the court of inquiry on Pearl Harbor.

With Vice Admiral Adolphus Andrews, a Native Texan, in our midst, we hold our place of importance in the ranks of heroes and notables.

BRIGADIER GENERAL WALTER DUMAS

Brigadier General Walter Dumas is one of Denison's most illustrious sons. His family home, from birth, was there and it was there that he received the academic foundation which was later to result in a brilliant military career. He has seen action and received honors in all parts of the world, and with great pride we hail him as a native son and important citizen.

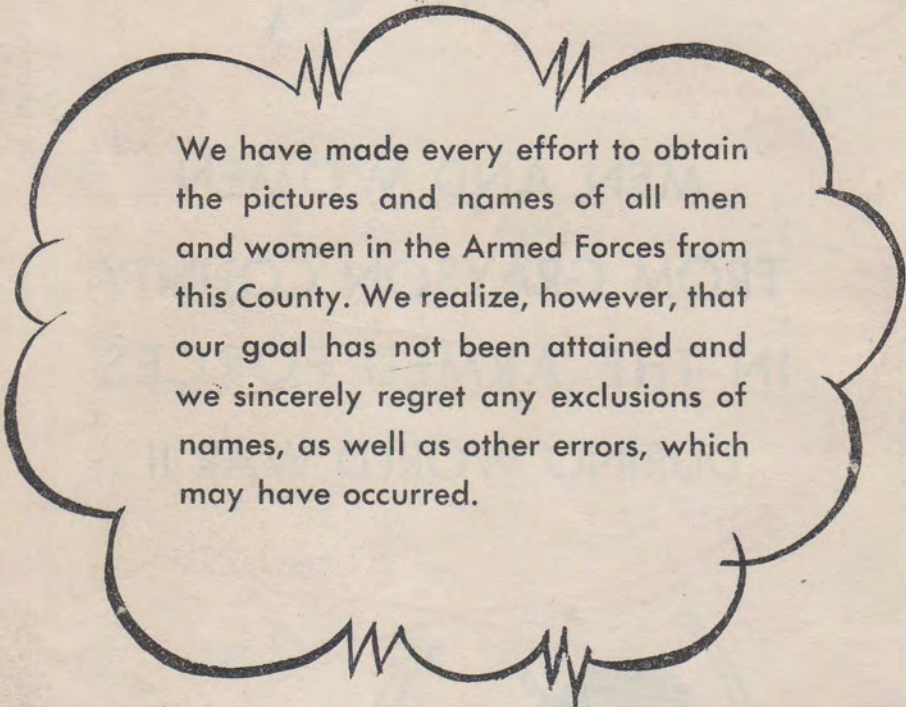

In his early childhood and youth, his contacts with people of interest made his life colorful. Among the persons he knew intimately, were President Theodore Roosevelt and his family of boys. Both in Washington and San Antonio, their friendship flourished and among Brigadier General Dumas' most prized possessions is a letter in President Theodore Roosevelt's own writing, congratulating him on a scholastic achievement.

He was destined for fame and glory during his college career, at Davidson College. During these years he came to know President Woodrow Wilson and was chosen as one of the college boys to guard him at his first inauguration night at the White House. His education continued at Georgia College of Technology and the University of Texas.

At the outbreak of World War I, he attended officers' training courses at Leon Springs and was commissioned in the regular army in 1917. From then on his service to his country was the important thing in his life and that service took him to many parts of the world. Serving in Siberia, he witnessed five separate Russian revolutions and was in the town where the Czar and his family were murdered. After the Armistice he was sent to the Philippines. Later he was appointed as an instructor in the department of tactics at West Point, a singular honor, as he became the only non-graduate of the U. S. Military Academy to hold that position. He has served at Fort Benning, Ga., as instructor at the Army's Infantry School, twice. Besides all of these, he is a graduate of the Infantry School, Chemical Warfare School, Command and General Staff School and the Army War College.

He has been honored with the Distinguished Service Cross, the Legion of Merit, the Navy Award Medal and many others. He has seen combat in the Solomons, Bismarck Sea and Saipan.

With this interesting career, the name of Brigadier General Walter Dumas, is emblazoned on the colorful records of Denison's history and is a matter of great pride to his friends and fellow citizens.

We have made every effort to obtain the pictures and names of all men and women in the Armed Forces from this County. We realize, however, that our goal has not been attained and we sincerely regret any exclusions of names, as well as other errors, which may have occurred.

On 2 April 1945, lieutenant Castleberry was driving a jeep to Second Battalion Headquarters with Private First Class PFC James V. Musto and Private James W. Nichols when a German sniper shot lieutenant Castleberry. Causing lieutenant Castleberry to drive off a small bridge and flip over. The jeep pinned lieutenant Castleberry down. At this point, PFC Musto and Private Nichols who were uninjured in the crash pulled lieutenant Castleberry out of the Jeep and dragged him to a ditch because the three men were still under fire by the German sniper. At this point, the two Private's began to conduct first aid on lieutenant Castleberry. Once they had stopped the bleeding the two men exposed themselves to enemy fire when they went searching for something to use as a litter. They came back to the ditch with a gate to put lieutenant Castleberry on to carry him. The two men carried lieutenant Castleberry over 100 yards down a road "exposed to possible enemy sniper fire." [GO 239 275] The injuries that lieutenant Castleberry suffered caused him to spend the next two years in hospital's to recover from these wounds.

In 1952 he received his medical degree and membership in AOA Honor Medical Society from Southwestern Medical School of the University of Texas in Dallas, followed by residencies in both internal medicine and radiology at the V.A. Hospital in McKinney, Texas. In 1957, he moved his family to Sherman and joined Dr. Arthur Boyd in establishing Sherman Radiology Associates. He retired from active medical practice in 1990.
