G. H. S. lost no time in catching a vision of what should be regarded as non-essential and unimportant during the world crisis. This vision soon became a reality.

It was ours to do the best that we could; with this in mind the year 1942-43 was indeed a challenge to the student-body. We surmounted many obstacles placed in our pathway and carried on with the firm conviction and determination that we must not stop short of our best toward ultimate victory.

It is the desire of the Staff that when we are happy people again, each member of Garland High School can have the satisfaction of knowing that he had a part--be it great or small--in making America a country where Americans may enjoy the fruits of freedom and independence.

That memories of today may be relived tomorrow, the personalities, activities, and buildings around G. H. S. have been pictorially recorded within these pages of the OWLS NEST.

Years may pass and times will swallow everything; but may the spirit of eager students; sympathetic instructors, and stately buildings that make up our miniature world at Garland High School live on.

HONORING

. . . These high school boys who have enlisted in the Service during 1942-43. They, along with the other thousands of young men the world over, are giving their best, making every sacrifice that we may continue to enjoy America. freedom and independence.

A MESSAGE

Dedicated to Our High School Boys in Service, or to Those Who Soon Will be--

The war brings us face to face with our attitude toward death. Those of us who are older accept death as a part of life. But war brings a new problem. It is not the frail and the old who are cut off, but the young, the strong, and the brave. The fact of death on so great a scale compels us to look at the eternal varities and values.

You will go forth to fight for the four great freedoms: freedom of speech, freedom of press, freedom from want and freedom from fear. This is the master struggle. Without victory all is darkness. He who contributes to that victory though he live but an hour has left an influence that shall never die.

We live in deeds, not years; in thoughts not breaths; in feelings not in figures. We should count time by heart throbs. He lives most who thinks most and acts the noblest.

Your friend,

Team Talk

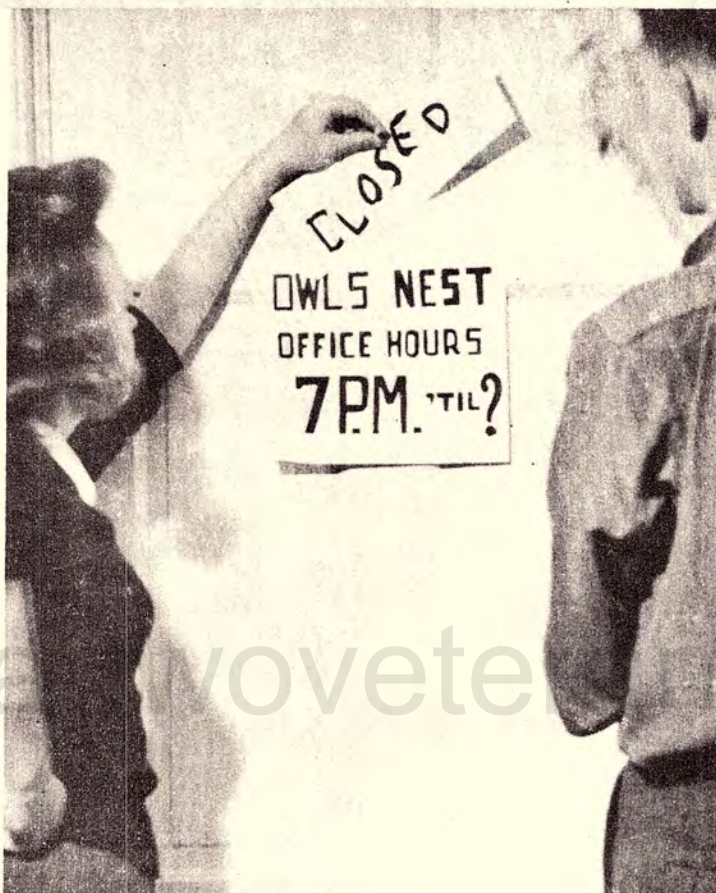

With no pre-season prospects, but with plenty of fighting spirit, the Garland Owls ruled the District 13A-14A football roost and took the Bi-District championship. The Owls played 12 games, and though defeated by Kaufman 12-7 in a non-conference game and by Nocona 20-6 in the Regional title game, they developed into one of the best teams in the history of Garland High School.

AND SO FOR NOW

As this is being written, former students and graduates of Garland High are fighting in all parts of the world. Some have given their lives in defense of our country. Although the future is uncertain our aims are definite. We are fighting to preserve the heritages that have made America great, and to spread these privileges to FREE men over the world.

The Owls Nest is presented by the Class of '43. Soon members of this class will be engaged in the present conflict. It has been our effort to publish a yearbook that will remind these graduates of happy days spent in G. H. S., and to challenge the under-classmen to do as well--even better--than our Senior Class.

In presenting our record of 1942-43, we express our thanks to the entire student body and faculty for their fine cooperation and contributions. Our special gratitude goes to Miss Loleita Coffey, our sponsor, to Miss Kathryn Wynn for her help with photography, and to our publisher, the Taylor Engraving Corporation of Dallas.

The members of the staff are as follows: Editor in-chief, Craver Skipwith; Assistant Editor, Walter Earl Plassingmaer; Business Manager, Bill Bradfield; Assistant Manager, Joyce Minor; Art Editors, Charles Cabaniss, C. W. Parton; Sponsor, Loleita Coffey.
