JAMBOREE AT BOWL

MINDORO, Nov 10--The second big stage and screen show of the 1945 Fall Season was presented last night at the Deadeye Bowl before thousands of spectators.

Heading the gala stage show was the 96th Div Dance Band, with such stellar favorites as Bob Alspaugh and the Quintones. High-light number was a knocked-out drum solo on "Night Special", by the Band's new fourteen-pointer, Elmer Schember.

Special added attractions were featured by different units of the Division. The 381st Dixie Combo gave forth with two solid Southern special of the type of music which made New Orleans the mecca of the sugar blues. This Dixie Combo is a small part of the full 381st Band-O-Leers, who will put on a full-style stage show Monday, Nov 19th.

Stealing the spotlight was the 383's Eddie Lynch and the Four Notes--an up and coming musical aggregation. A few of the numbers which they delighted the audience with was their rendition of "Lady Be Good", "Sentimental Journey" and "Besame Mucho".

A Hillbilly band from the 382nd beat out a few Western tunes, and Joe Negron strummed the guitar, singing some Spanish songs.

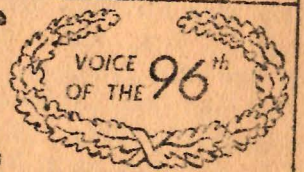

The comedy section was ably handed by the Artillery's own Joe Stanek, with the master of ceremonies Tommy Thompson assisting excellently on the straight lines.

On the screen, the laugh-riot, "Out of This World", with Eddie Bracken, Diana Lynn and Veronica Lake was shown. Special feature numbers by Cass Daly brought the house down in roars, while one cute gag by Bing Crosby's boys had the Bowl audience chuckling.

Side Notes In the Band's hepped-up version of "Night Special" Bill Conlan, lead trumpet, was really in the groove, while Jimmy Thompson on T.D.'s: "I'm Getting Sentimental Over You" was about the sweetest thing we've heard in some time....The Eddie Lynch group is about the best little musical bunch to come out of the Division in recent months....Stage Shows will be held Friday night at the Bowl, with movies shown every night in the week.....

U.S. ADMITS "MINOR SKIRMISHES"SENATE PASSES REVISED GI BILL

WASHINGTON, Nov 10--The Senate Thursday passed a revised GI Bill of Rights and sent it to the House for adjustment of minor differences. It voted down a proposal which would have extended the benefits to widows of veterans who would have been entitled to them had they lived.

The main provisions of the new bill are the elimination of age restrictions on educational benefits and an increase of the subsistence allowances to $65 a month for veterans without dependents and $90 monthly for veterans with a family. The bill authorizes the guarantee of loans for working capital as well as for real estate and extends to ten years the time in which a veteran may apply for a loan after his discharge. It extends the repayment of loans on homes to 25 years and on farms to 40 years. The House is expected to pass the present bill.

GI REPORTER CRASHES ZHUKOV PARTY

Nov 10--From Berlin comes the story of an American sergeant who crashed Marshal Zhukov's reception for Gen Eisenhower Wednesday night and came away with an interview with the Marshal himself. S/Sgt Harold Kempner of Philadelphia, a reporter for a weekly newspaper for the U.S. military government, quoted Zhukov as saying that the Allied occupation would last 10 years.

SHANGHAI, Nov 10--Lieut General Albert C. Wedemeyer, commander of the United States forces in China, acknowledged in Shanghai that they have been involved in minor skirmishes, but definitely are not provoking trouble. Chinese Communists now engaged in clashes with Central Government troops in several sectors, previously charged the Americans with helping Chiang Kai Shek forces and demanded that Wedemeyer apologize for intervention.

They also charged that American marines had raided Communist offices in Tientsin. Gen Wedemeyer said he referred this to the commander of the Third Marine Amphibious Corps, and would go to Chungking Friday to confer with Chiang. "We are not supposed to take aggressive action against any Chinese except to protect American lives or property," Wedemeyer said. "We will not become involved in fratricidal warfare in the process."

Meantime, Chinese Communists and Central Government leaders have resumed their deadlocked peace negotiations, says Chungking.

ONE ORDER OF HEAVEN COMING UP

(ANS)--Capt Frank L. Lillyman, paratroop officer in the Seventh Army Provost Marshal's office, is a man who knows what he wants. And if it seems a little screwy to other people, well, let them worry about their own dreams.

For it was out of his dreams and visions while overseas--jotted down between his five combat operations and during his three hospitalizations--that the captain worked out his plan for a homecoming to put "Weekend at the Waldorf" and other Hollywood imaginings to shame.

The Pennsylvania Hotel has received a letter from the paratroop officer, outlining a seven-day stay in New York with his wife and small daughter.

First of all, he said, he wants a suite of rooms, which "must face east, so the sun wakes me up. (Foxholes haven't portholes.)" Furthermore, "I'll want a cup of English-made tea in bed, and three meals daily of dishes I'll list. I don't want to know the dishes in advance. But no dish shall be repeated!"

"During my stay," he warned, "no employees shall call me by my military rank whether I'm in uniform or not! The title of 'Mister' will be sweet music. I desire a maid made available for my wife--a large, gray-haired motherly type in black dress, white apron and white cap.

"Each morning when breakfast is served in my suite, a fresh bouquet shall be delivered to my wife, a new doll or toy to my daughter. I would like also a schedule of daily sightseeing, shopping, and theaters to be ready."

The captain wants to read the papers at breakfast, while Strauss music, including "Tales of the Vienna Woods," floats all around him. The breakfast menu is to read like this: "Orange juice (NOT canned), slicked bananas with cream, peaches with cream, cereals with cream, blackberries with cream. Light scrambled eggs (made with cream and butter), two poaced eggs, three slices of fried ham (no FAT) with an egg, sunny side up but with pink yolk and firm white. Two medium boiled eggs with sausages, vegetable juice and fresh milk."

For lunch the paratrooper, henceforth to be known as the Appetite, wants more eggs, chicken salad, sausages, cold tongue, homemade biscuits, sliced pimentos. Dinner will be off to a "good start" with filet mignon (dripping with mushrooms), lobster, shrimp, crepe suzettes. And these desserts: "Whipped cream or custard puffs, eclairs, strawberry shortcake, nicely crushed berries and French pastry."

If he is still alive and hungry at bedtime, he wants a banana split with nuts and maraschino cherry, a honey-dew melon, smoked herrings and a big dill pickle.

Affirming his sanity and seriousness of purpose, Captain Lillyman asked just three questions: "Can you do it? What's the tariff? (I'm a captain, no general). How much notice will you need? (I'll wire you the minute I hit the States.)"

The hotel's managers, dazed and amazed, weren't sure themselves whether they could do it. At last reports, they were thinking of buying a dairy and poultry farm as a starter!

5,000 PLANES AND 400,000 MEN NEW CAR PRODUCTION SLOW

WASHINGTON, Nov 10--5000 combat planes ready for instant use, 400,000 officers and enlisted men, and a reserve of 1,000,000 men are the goals of the air forces, as Lieut Gen Doolittle outlined them for Congress yesterday. The veteran airman said these figures have been approved by Gen Henry Arnold, chief of the Army Air Forces, but have not yet been accepted by the War Department or the joint chiefs of staff.

Doolittle contended that the next war, in 20 or more years from now, will be conducted by "pilotless, gyro-stabilized, radar controlled and radio directed projectiles utilizing atomic bombs or some more powerful force." He predicted that our future military plane will be able "to go to any part of the world and return to bases in America."

After pointing out that other nations will have the same kind of air power and may also carry atomic bombs, Gen Doolittle said that in such a world it is necessary for the nation's safety to have a single national defense department, with the air forces raised to equality with ground and sea forces.

37TH SAILS NOV. 15

WASHINGTON, Nov 10--The War Department reported today the 37th Division now is scheduled to sail for home November 15.

More than 28,500 troops were scheduled to land yesterday at three East Coast ports aboard 20 transports, while at five West Coast ports 14 more vessels were due to debark nearly 13,000 servicemen from the Pacific.

PEARL HARBOR HEARINGS TO BEGIN NOV 15

WASHINGTON, Nov 10--Yesterday Democrats in the Senate voted down a proposal to postpone the start of hearings on Pearl Harbor. They will be opened November 15.

President Truman has ordered all government agencies to permit personnel to volunteer information and testify before the special joint House-Senate committee investigating the Pearl Harbor disaster.

DETROIT, Nov 10--Only 19,000 new passenger cars have been turned out since VJ Day, which is but 26% of the planned production. The reasons given for the low output are wage disputes and piecemeal shipment of parts.

Meantime, a congressional committee demanded that OPA not cut dealer margins on new cars until further investigation. The action came after 500 dealers protested the OPA was squeezing them unfairly by permitting manufacturers to charge more for new cars but keeping retail prices at the 1942 level. Dealers said the long standing mark up on new cars is approximately 24%, but the OPA decision will probably cut this in half.

"DESTRUCTION ON AN UNBELIEVABLE SCALE"

LONDON, Nov 10--Prime Minister Attlee declared yesterday that unless new human relationships are devised between peoples "destruction on an unbelievable scale will fall upon our civilization. We have to get together with all nations to consider how we can live in peace."

Attlee spoke a few hours before he was to board a plane for the United States for conferences with President Truman and Prime Minister King.

BURLESQUE AIN'T NO MORE

(CNS)--Oh, it's going to be a cruel world, fellow GI. You may think it will be nigh onto perfect to go back to, but it's not going to be.

Take the big city, for example. Though New York is the ideal area for the study and enjoyment of the stage, its list of classified amusements these days is, alas, incomplete. Some of the best things of the past aren't there any more. Censor-bound, New York is unable to include that historical specimen of distinctly native drama--the burlesque show.

This enforced omission is regrettable for several reasons: the ambitious young man is deprived of a place for sowing vicarious wild oats and learning "the secrets of women's hidden charms." The oncoming comedian is denied admittance to the superlative school for pratt falls and belly laughs at a time when there are lamentably few prospective successors for the aging veterans.

But, most sad, the returning soldier--neurotic GIs like you 'n' me--is deprived of the escapist hilarity which accompanies bawdy jokes, raucous singing, and bad dancing. No more bumps. No more burlesque. Leave us get together round the tent fire and shed a silent tear, men.

THAT MARBLE SLIT TRENCH FLOORED HIM

(CNS)--Points! Points! Points! Every GI under 35 years of age is now planning, scheming, hoping, and praying that he can get home on points. This is the story of a soldier who didn't have to sweat out his points. The name of this timid lad was--Horace Hooley.

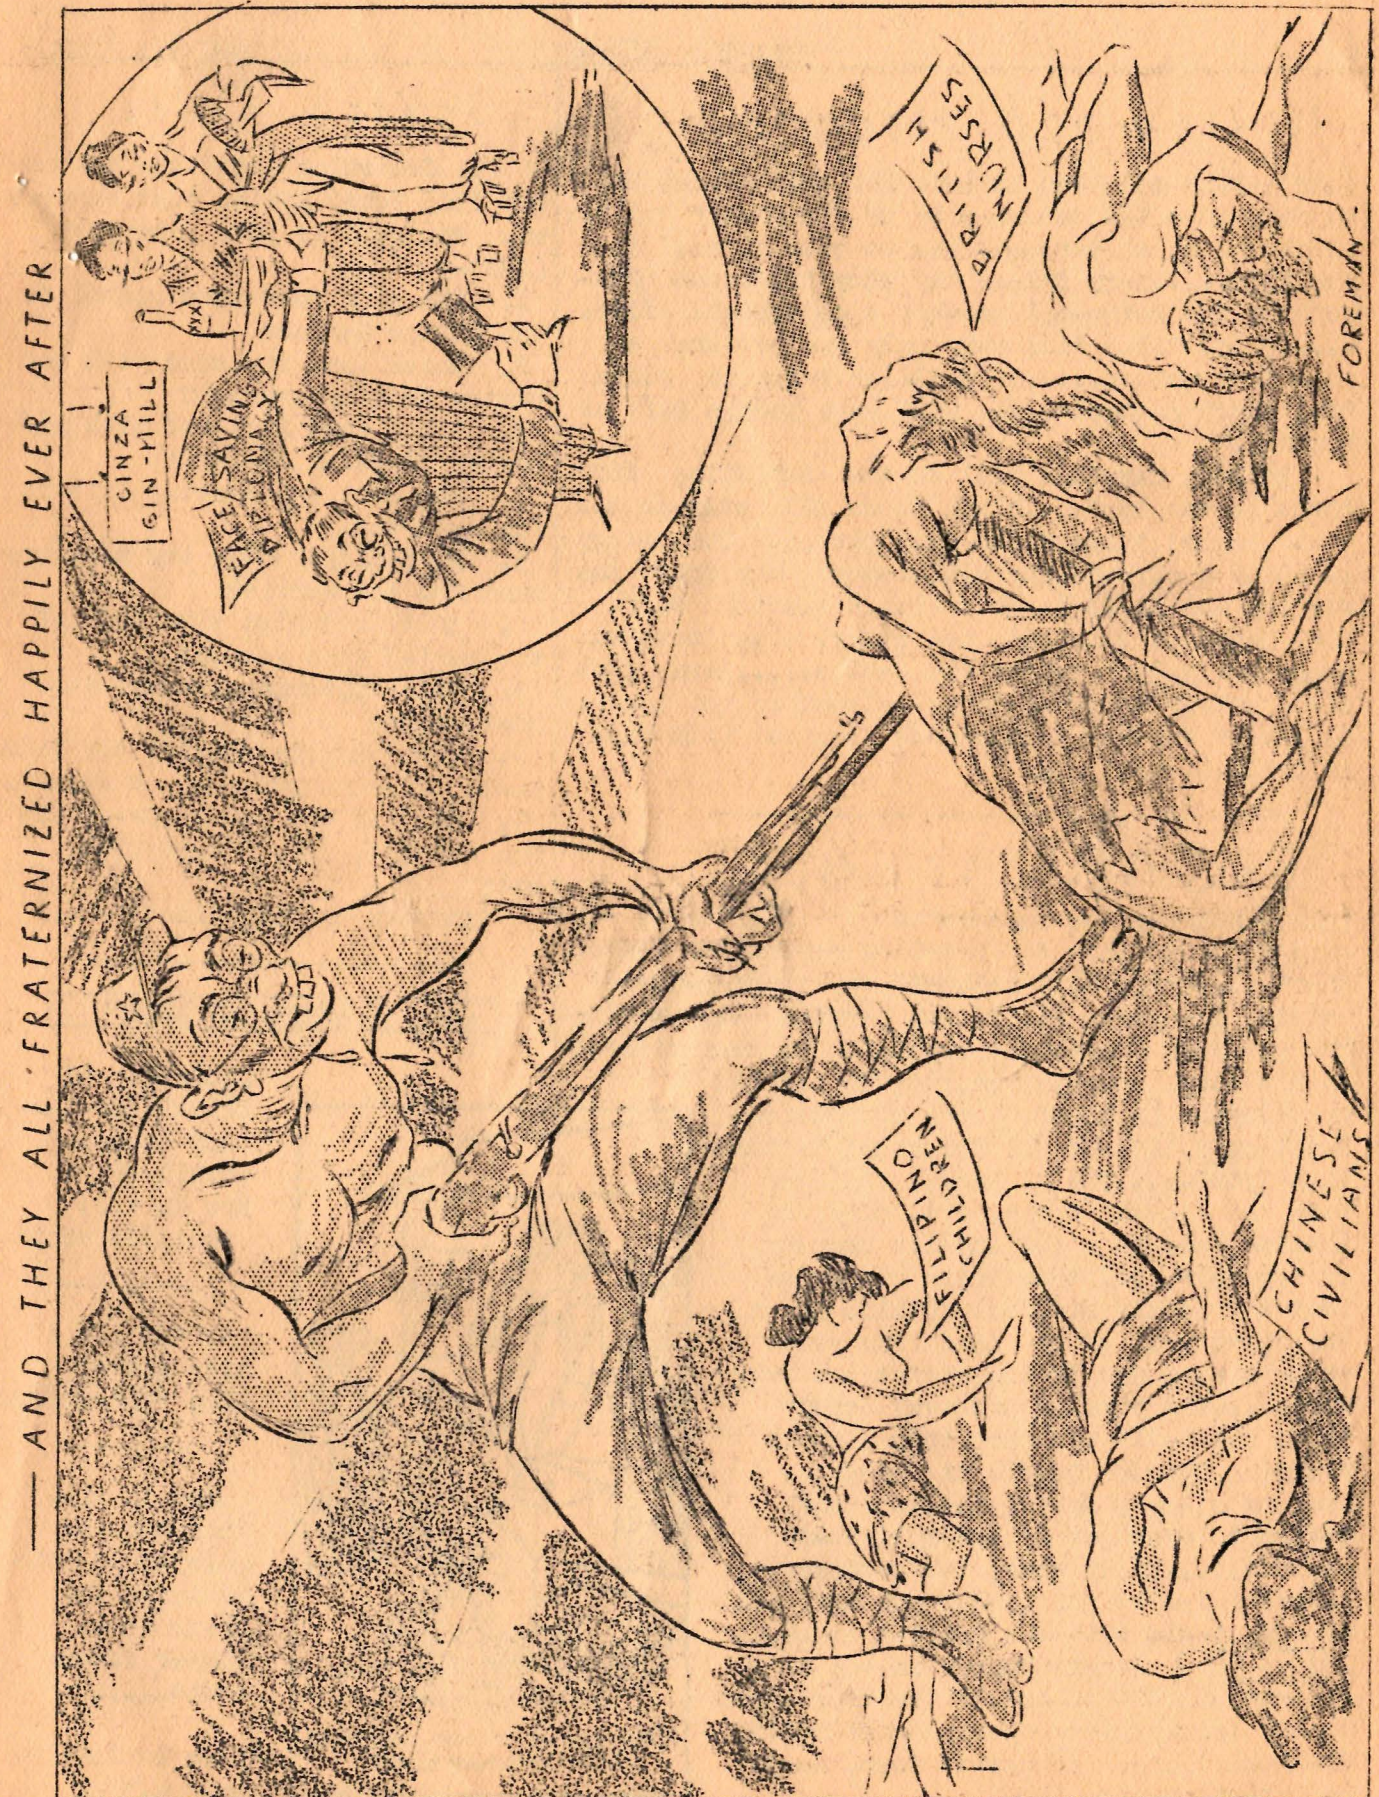

Horace Hooley landed, as was his custom, with the third echelon of the XXIV Corps Riding from Inchon to Seoul, he mused over his niggardly 31 points, meanwhile dreamily screaming, "Hello, Hello, Hello," in reply to the thousands of bra--no, children--who lined the railroad tracks. At Seoul he shouldered his barracks bag, stepped off the train, and counted the motley assortment of people gaping at this glimpse of a glorious GI. Then, even this counting was interrupted by a ghoulis odor which wafted, wormed, jolted its way into his consciousness. Hooley half-heartedly slumped on his barracks bag and, as is wont with clerks, began contemplating, theorizing, assuming; rejecting. Yes! No! Yes! No! No! No! No latrines in Seoul!!! That night Horace stumbled dazedly into a fretful slumber. Early in the morning he picked over a delicious breakfast of ham and eggs, then hastened to the office. Approaching the building, he surveyed it critically and mumbled his approval; entering, he nodded happily, admiring the lavatory; he shook with ecstasy. Next Hooley opened the door to the commode.

Far away in that fabulous country called the USA in a certain hospital, in a certain ward, there is a man called Horace Hooley. First, this shell of a man bends to his hands and knees; second, he sits on the floor; third, he stands straddle-legged; finally, he runs away raving, "No! Not that, sir! Not that, sir!"

Yes, there is a moral to this story--an old, old one. "Don't count your chickens before they're hatched." There may be no POINT to it.

WHAT THEY'RE SINGING

This one is for the sixty-pointers sweating it out....SENTIMENTAL JOURNEY

Gonna take a sentimental journey,
Gonna set my heart at ease,
Gonna make a sentimental journey
To renew old memories
Got my bag, I got my reservation,
Spent each dime I could afford
Like a child in wild anticipation,
Long to hear that "All Aboard"
Seven, that's the time we leave,
at seven
I'll be waitin' up for heaven,
Countin' ev'ry mile of railroad track that takes me back
Never thought my heart could be so
"yearny"
Why did I decide to roam?
Gotta take this sentimental journey,
Sentimental journey home.

Then for the heavy drinkers and the light sippers, here's...RUM AND COCA-COLA

If you ever go to Trinidad
They make you feel so very glad
Calypso sing and make up rhyme,
Guarantee you one good real fine time,
chorus

Drinkin' rum and coca-cola...
Go down Point Koo*Mah*Nah...
Both mother and daughter
Workin' for the Yankee dollar

You will see on Manzanilla beach,
G.I. romance with native
"peach"
The whole night long make tropic love,
Next day sit in hot sun and
cool off,

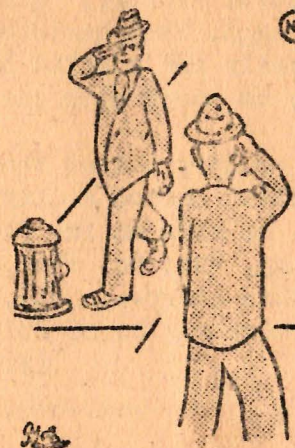

From Chica-chi-carry to Mona's
Isle
Native girls all dance and smile
They wear grass skirts, but that's okay
Yankee like to hit the hay...

Since most of us will get home in this way...LET'S TAKE THE LONG WAY HOME

Let's take the long way home
Let's look for the long way home
And on the way, let's pretend
That this wonderful night won't end
Through Asia would be much too soon
We'll circle once around the moon
Our dream boat will carry us across the foam
We'll take the long way, make sure it's the wrong way,
Let's take the long way home
Shall we fly through the night, shall we dream as we go?
See the star on your right, see the farm down below?
The whole trip it appears, only takes a million years,
If you're in the mood to roam
Then let's take the long way home.

For you joes with a sweet tooth, here'sCANDY

"Candy", I call my sugar "Candy"
Because I'm sweet on "Candy" and
"Candy's" sweet on me
She understands me my understanding
"Candy"
And "Candy's" always handy
When I need sympathy
I wish there were four of her so I could love much more of her
She has taken my complete
heart,
Got sweet tooth for my sweet-
heart,
"Candy" it's gonna be just dandy,
The day I take my "Candy"
And make her mine all mine.

NORMAN A. HIRK

as Chic sees it

Sitting here in the wee hours of the morning trying to dope out this week's football picture and without anymore beer handy is a rough task. It's tough to latch on to the affirmative and eliminate the negative when there are such big games as Navy-Mich, Columbia-Penn, Temple-Penn St, Ore St-Wash and a host of others. But with a quick swig of this chlorinated water and a blindfold about my eyes, out I go on that limb again and pick them this way.

Army for sure over Notre Dame. The Irish will try their best to avenge last year's terrible defeat, but the Kaydets are out to beat the South Bend boys as hard as they can when they've got a good team. And there's no doubt about they're having one of the most powerful teams around.

I like Colgate over Cornell, Holy Cross over the Coast Guard, Ohio State to beat Pittsburgh, Yale to take Brown West Virginia over Kentucky and, here I go again, but N.Y.U. over Lehigh.

Out Midwest way, the Illini over Iowa, with Oklahoma over Iowa St, Marquette over Kansas, Kansas State over the Cornhuskers of Nebraska. The Wildcats to rip the Badgers apart when Northwestern and Wisconsin tangle, and I think it is about time the Golden Gophers snapped out of it and the Indiana Hoosiers for a surprise ride this week.

The Blue Devils of Duke should have no trouble over North Carolina State and Georgia plus Charley Trippi should make hash of the Florida eleven. My money on Tulane over Georgia Tech, L.S.U. to take Mississippi, Miami over So Carolina, Virginia over Richmond, Tenn making a tight squeeze over Miss State, and Wake Forest giving N. Carolina the once over lightly.

I think Rice, Texas and the Texas Aggies to win over Arkansas, Baylor, and SMU respectively, while TCU takes Texas Tech and Washington beats Ore State. New Mexico over Utah U, Ore over Wash State, and the Trojans of So Calif to bounce back and win over California.

Way down here at the bottom of the column, I climb out a little further on that limb to take Navy over Mich, Temple to continue unbeaten over Penn St, and Penn to stop Columbia.....finis

SWEDISH STAR RUNNERS SUSPENDED !

Stockholm, Nov 10--Gunner Haegg, Arne Anderson and 13 other top ranking Swedish track Stars have been declared professionals and have lost all amateur standings.

The Swedish Athletic Association has made investigation into matters and representatives of 15 athletic clubs testified that they had paid the athletes. It is now up to the committee to decide whether Haegg's and Anderson's world records will stay on the books. The consensus of opinion seems that all the records established by the great Swedish runners will be wiped off the books.
