I--SILVER STAR MEDAL-By direction of the President, under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amonded, and pursuant to the authority contained in Paragraph 4, Section I, Circular No. 66, Headquarters, First United States Army, 18 May 1944, the Silver Star Medal is awarded to the following enlisted man:

Private Wilmer C. Hadley (Army Serial Number 20731;17), Infantry, United States Army, for gallentry in action in Holland on 5 November 1944. On 5 November 1944 while Private Hadley's company was engaging the enemy, his company commander was wounded. Upon hearing that his commander was wounded and that he might live if evacuated immediately, Private Hadley, disregarding his own personal safety, volunteered to go forward with a vahicle through the heavy enemy artillery, mortar, and small arms fire, which was being directed at them by the enemy, in order to save the life of is company commander. Upon arriving at the side of his commander, he discovered that he had died, whereupon he picked up another wounded officer and enlisted man whom he had discovered to be wounded and returned with them under the same withering fire. This outstanding example of courage, showe and beyond the call of duty, the omission of which would have brought no discredit upon himself, was an inspiration to all who saw the act and reflects the highest credit on the traditions of the American soldier. Entered military service from Bernie, Missouri.

II-BRONZE STAR MEDAL-By direction of the President, under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, and pursuant to the authority contained in Paragraph 4, Section I, Circular No. 66, Headquarters, First United States Army, 18 May 1944, the Bronze Star Medal is awarded to the following officers and enlisted man:

Major JOHN W. WHITE (Army Serial Number 021319), Infantry, United States Army, for meritorious service in connection with military operations in Holland on 2 to 5 November 1944. Entered military service from Cleveland, Ohio.

Captain RCBERT L. KELLEY (Army Serial Number 01533822), Medical Administrative Corps, United States Army, for meritorious service in connection with military operations in Holland and Belgium from 23 October 1944 to 7 November 1944. Entered military service from Vallejo, California.

Sergeant Jean 1. Dondanvillo (Army Serial Number 36441953), Infantry, United States Army, for heroic achievement in connection with military operations in Holland on 3 November 1744. Entered military service from Moline, Illinois.

I--SILVER STAR MEDAL--Posthumous Awards -- By direction of the President, unker the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, and pursuant to the authority contained in Paragraph 4, Section I, Circular No. 66, Headquarters, First United States Army, 18 May 1944, the Silver Star Nedal is awarded, posthumously, to the following enlisted men:

Private First Class Benjamin E. Fiedler, Jr. (Army Serial Number 19147850), Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Helland on 31 October 1944. On 31 October 1944 Private Fiedler's company participated in a river crossing, and after initial successes in the crossing his company received murderous artillery and mortar fine, during which the platoon leader and equad luaders of his platoon all became cas alties. Private Fiedler, with the assistance of another comrade, voluntarily accepted leadership of the remainder of the platcon, and with disregard for his personal safety, coolly and aggressively, in the face of heavy enemy fire. led the platoon forward under the most harassing circumstances. The platoon dug in near a road 1000 yards beyond the river which they had crossed, and were there subjected to direct fire from two German tanks firing point-blank into their positions. The heroism of Private Fiedler, which he expressed by his undaunted action of deliberate courage, was greatly responsible for the valuable 1500 yards his unit was able to advance beyond the river. Private Fiedlar's unfaltering bravery in this action cost him his life. It examplifies the highest traditions of the American soldier and reflects great credit to himself and the military service. Entered military service from Tacoma, Washington. Next of kin: Banjamin E. Fiodlar, Sr., 9455 14th S W, Seattle, Washington.

Private First Class Oswald K. Myers (Army Serial Number. 39334478), Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Holland on 4 November 1944. On 4 November 1944 Private Myer's company was moving forward under heavy enemy fire. Private Myers was an assistant Automatic Rifleman, and in the course of the action was wounded, yet, even though ordered to remain behind for medical aid, he continued on in the advance of his company, during which advance the Automatic Rifleman whom he was assisting was killed. He immediately proceeded to crawl forward, took over the automatic rifle, and continued to fire on the enemy. This bold action took place under heavy enemy fire where the anemy had a commanding view of the terrain with good visibility. This act of heroism cost Private Myers his life, but it constituted an important factor in the taking of the company objective. His undaunted courage is a distinct credit to himself and exemplifies the finest traditions of the American soldier. Entered vilitary service from Cloversdale, Oregon. Next of kin: Nancy H. Michael, 109 West Holston Avenue, Johnston City, Tennessee.

II-SILVER STAR MEDAL--Missing in Action--By direction of the President, under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, and pursuant to the authority contained in Paragraph 4, Section I, Circular No. 66, Head-quarters, First United States Army, 18 May 1944, the Silver Star Medal is awarded to the following enlisted man (missing in action):

Private First Class Richard W. Mitchell (Army Serial Number 15311552), Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Holland on 30 October 1944. On the night of 30 October 1944 the company to which Frivate Mitchell was assigned was operating as the advance guard of the battalion. As the advance continued the enemy fire became so accurate and intense that it was necessary for the antire bettalion to withdraw. As the company withdraw, the enemy layed down a heavy concentration of artillery along the route of withdrawal resulting in several casualties. When most of the company had completed its withdrawal word came in that a few wounded men had been left behind on the battle field. Private Mitchell, upon hearing this, requested permission from his platoon sergeant to return to the battle field for the purpose of evacuating his fallen comrades. Realizing that his company was withdrawing and that the entwo fire on the battle field was extreme, he still, with utter disregard for his own personal safety, proceeded forward to fulfill, on his own volition, his mission of mercy to his fallen comrades. His action exemplifies the spirit traditional of the American soldier and reflects great credit to the military service. Entored military service from Athens, Ohio. Next of kin: James O. Mitchell, 4641 E 85th St., Garfield Hoights, Chio.

JII-SINER STAR MEDAL-By direction of the President, under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, and pursuant to the authority contained in Paragraph 4, Section I, Circular No. 66, Headquarters, First United States Army, 18 May 1944, the Silver Star Medal is awarded to the following officers and enlisted men:

Major JOHN R. DEANE, JR. (Army Serial Number 024835), Infantry, United States Army, for gailantry in action in Holland on 28 October 1944. On 28 October 1944 Major Deane requested permission to lead the I & R Platoon of his regiment on a reconnaissance into enemy held territory. At about 2300 the platoon made contact with the enemy and became involved in a fire fight within an organized enemy defensive area manned by about 60 men. Major Deane, with total disregard for his own personal safety, continually exposed himself to the enemy fire in the process of directing the fire of his men on the enemy positions. He ordered the withdrawal of the Platoon only after the mission assigned had been accomplished and the information obtained had been transmitted back by radio to the regimental headquarters. This action prevented an approaching battalion from being ambushed and examplified the highest standards of the American soldier. It reflects great cradit to himself and the military service. Entered military service from San Francisco, California.

First Liautement ERVEST D. FOX (Army Serial Number 01297857), Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Holland from 31 October to 3 November 1944. On the night of 31 October 1944 Lieutement Fox's company participated in a night crossin, of a river. At daybreak heavy enemy artillery, mortar, and small arms fire was directed against the company, but in spite of the heavy enemy fire and with complete disregard for his own personal safety, Liautenant Fox continued to lead his company in the attack over the wet swampy ground over which they had to advance: In the early afternoon his company had been surrounded by the enemy and cut off from the rest of the battalion. Realizing the situation, he calmly organized his comrany, moved up to a nearby ditch, and directed his men to dig in. This position was occurred for a period of three days, during which time he controlled his men in such a manner that the company suffered a minimum of casualties and at the same time successfully repulsed saveral anemy counter attacks with heavy enemy casualties. His acts of courage and bravery were an inspiration to his men in the fulfillment of their mission of holding this area until another battalion of his regiment could come forward and carry on the attack. His unflagging boldness and deliberate tenacity in maintaining his position is a distinct cradit to the military service and to the traditions of the American soldier. Entered military service from Salt Lots City, Utah.

First Lieutenant DAVID J. SEYDER (Army Serial Number 01289331), Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Holland on 30 October 1944. On the night of 30 October 1944 the company to which Lieutenant Snyder was assigned was operating as the advance guard of the battalion. As the advance continued the enemy fire became so intense and accurate that it was necessary for the entire battalion to withdraw. Lieutenant Snyder, in command of the weapons platoon, was ordered to command the covering forces, consisting of the third platoon of the company and a light machine gun section. His mission was to remain in position on the near side of the canal to cover the withdrawal of the company. In spite of heavy enemy shelling, his men carried out these orders very efficiently, after which he directed the withdrawal of the covering forces. After his men had withirsweened were on the route back to the company area, Liputenant Snyder, upon his own volttion and with utter disregard for his personal safety, returned to the area along the route of withdrawal to help wounded men and assist in their evacuation. These areas were under heavy energy artillary fire during the operations, but in spite of this he located an advanced aid station that had not yet been set up and requested litter bearers from the Battalion Surgeon. As a rabult of Livut-mant Snyder's efforts, tipoly treatment was afforded several casualties and at least two men were evacuated from the battle field who would othervise not have been found until the following day. This act of courage and bravery in the face of heavy enemy fire reflects the highest standards of the American coldier and is a credit to the military service. Entered military service from Lexington, Ohio.

Second Lieutenant ICONARD I. CARR (Army Serial Number 01324907), Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Holland on 4 November 1944. During the afternoon of 4 November 1944, Lieutenant Carr, with complete disregard for his personal cafety and disregarding continuous enemy fire, after suffering a sprained ankle and wrist wound, which rendered him incapable of bearing a fire arm, arose from his covered position in a ditch and with cold courage and calmness led his platoon into the enemy right flank. During the assault, Lieutenant Carr limped along in the center of the skirmish line waving a bayonet like a baton, constantly encouraging his men and directing their movements.

This assault by his platoon resulted in the complete collapse of the enemy defenses in that sector and enabled his company to take its objective. This act, above and beyond the call of duty, was an inspiration to all the men and officers who saw it and colors the pages of the history of the American soldier with added glory and courage. Entered the military service from Seattle, Washington.

Second Libutanant HAROLD C. STARR (then Staff Sorgeant) (Army Serial Tumber (1998430), Field Artillery, United States Army, for gallantry in action in nolland on 31 October to 1 November 1944. Early in the afternoon of 31 October 1944 the battery commander of Starr's battery and part of his detail section laid a wire from the battery position east to a designated river. Upon arriving at the dike just short of the river, they found that the enemy had cut off a friendly infantry battelion that had made a river crossing earlier that morning and as a result were without ammunition or communication. The party observed and adjusted artillary fire on the enemy for their own battery, even though they thomsolves were under heavy enemy machine gun and mortar fire. As soon as darkness settled down, Lieutenant Starr, with four other volunteers, accompanied the hattery commander in making a river crossing for the purpose of astablishing communication with the infantry battalion and thereby bring relief to their distrassad comrades in the bettalion. This action was carried out upon his own rolition with complete disregard for his own personal anfaty. He was pinned down many times by many machine gun fire after the river crossing had been made, the mission, however, was accomplished. During the action after the river had been crossed, the battery commander was killed, so Lieutenant Starr (then Starr Sergeant) continued to adjust artillery fire and later took charge of the detail in getting them safely back across the river. During this entire operation the dikes on both sides of the river were raked by enemy machine gun fire, thus raking any movement across them an extreme risk to life. This act of courage and bravery, above and beyond the call of duty, exemplifies the spirit of the American soldier to the highest degree and is a distinct credit to the military service. Entered military service from Fort Worth, Texas.

Technician Fourth Grade Burton S. Gavitt (Army Serial Number 36510368), Madical Department, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Holland on 27 October 1944. On the morning of 27 October 1944 the platoon to which Technician Gavitt was assigned as an aid man, ran into heavy automatic energy fire which pinned them down. This action occurred at 0300 in the rerning and continued until 1700 that afternoon, during which time many of the members of the platoon were rendered casualties. Technician Gavitt, with complete disregard for his own personal safety, rendered medical treatment to all of the randed men. In the performance of his task he was himself wounded twice, and though near exhaustion himself as a result of these wounds, he continued his mission of mercy until it became necessary to evacuate him as a casualty along with the men whom he treated. This act of devotion in the cases of bringing comfort to his wounded comrades, above and beyond the call of duty, in the face of extreme danger, reflects credit of the highest degree to the military service and to himself. Entered military service from Detroit, Michigan.

General Order #19, Headquarters, 104th Infantry Division, 28 November 1944, page 5

Technician Fifth Grade Israel Langer (Army Serial Number 32621679), Field Artillery, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Holland in 31 October to 1 November 1944. Early in the afternoon of 31 cooper 1944 the battery commander of Langer's battery and part of his detail sect. laid a wire from the battery position east to a designated river. Upon arriving at the dike just short of the river, they found that the enemy had cut off a friendly infantry battalion that had made a river crossing earlier that morning and as a result were without ammunition or communication. The party observed and adjusted artillery fire on the enemy for their own battery, even though they themselves were under heavy enemy machine gun and mortar fire. As soon as darkness settled down, Technician Langer, with four other volunteers, accompanied the battery commander in making a river crossing for the purpose of establishing communications with the infantry battalion and thereby bring relief to their distressed comrades in the battalion. This action was carried out upon his own volition with complete disregard for his own personal safety. He was pinned down many times by enemy machine gun fire after the river crossing had been made, the mission, however, was accomplished. During the action after the river had been crossed, the bettery commander was killed. Tachnician Langar, upon the completion of this action, exemplified bold courage and bravery in aiding to carry the body of his battery commander back across the dike and an open field under eithering enemy fire to a floating foot bridge, and from thence or an aid station. This act of courage in fulfilling a mission above and beyond the call of duty is a distinct credit to the military survice and examplifies the highest standards of the American soldier. Entered military service from Brooklyn, New York.

Private First Class James W. Cassidy (Army Serial Number 12151465), Field Artillery, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Holland on 31 October to 1 November 1944. Early in the afternoon of 31 October 1944 the battery commander of Cassidy's battery and part of his detail section laid a wire from the battery position east to a designatel river. Upon arriving at the dike just short of the river, they found that the enemy had cut off a friendly infantry battalion that had made a river crossing sarlier that morning and as a result were without ammunition or communication. The party observed and adjusted artillary fire on the enemy for their own battery, even though they themselves were under heavy enemy machine gun and morter fire. As soon as darkness settled down Frivate Cassidy, with four other volunteers, accompanied the battery commander in making a river crossing for the purpose of establishing communication with the infantry battalion and thereby bring relief to their distressed comrades in the battalion. This action as carried out upon his own volition with complete disregard for his own personal safety. He was pinned down many times by enemy suchine wan fire after the river crossing had been made, the mission, hovever, was accomplished. During the action after the river had been crossed, the battery corranter was killed. Private Cassidy, upon the completion of this action, exomplified bold cours a and bravery in aiding to carry the body of his battery communist back across the dike and an open field under sithering enemy fire to a floating foot bridge, and from thence to an aid station. This act of courage in fulfilling a rission above and beyond the call of duty is a distinct credit to the vilitary service and examplifies the highest standards of the American soldier. Entered military service from East Hampton, New York.

Gameral Order #19, Headquarters, 104th Infantry Division, 28 November 1944, page 6.

Private First Class Herbert W. Dahlman (Army Serial Number 13151103). Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Holland on 31 October 1944. On 31 October 1944 Private Dahlman's company perticipated in a river crossing, and after initial successes in the crossing his company received murderous ' artillery and mortar fire, during which the platoon leader and squad leaders of his platoon all became casualties. Private Dahlman, with the assistance of another comrade, voluntarily accepted leadership of the remainder of the platoon, and with disregard for his personal safety, coolly and aggressively, in the face of heavy enemy fire, led the platoon forward under the most herassing circumstances. The platoon dug in mear a road 1000 yards beyond the river which they had crossed, and were there subjected to direct fire from two German tanks firing point-blank into their poritions. The haroism of Private Dahlman, which he exprossed by his undaunted action of deliberate courage, was greatly responsible for the valuable 1500 yards his unit was able to advance beyond the river. His courage exemplifies the highest traditions of the the American soldier and reflacts great credit to himself and the military service. Entered "ilitary service from West Valley, New York.

Private First Class Michael Joseph Moroz (Army Serial Number 20122743), Medical Department, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Holland on 27 October 1944. In the early morning of 27 October 1944 the platoon to which Private Moroz was assigned as an aid man had been pinned down by heavy enemy machine gun fire. In open terrain lighted by a burning hedge and in the face of heavy enemy cross-machine gun fire, Private Moroz, disregarding his own personal safety, relentlessly moved about the battle field caring for and treating the wounded. Not content with the service rendered his own men, he answered the pleas of a wounded soldier from an adjacent unit, giving him medical aid and evacuating him safely to a covered position. The unsulfish and devoted act of mercy exemplified by Private Moroz on this occasion following the initial stage of the battle won for him the greatest possible respect and appreciation from his comrades in arms and adds distinction and honor to the traditions of the American medical soldier. Entered military service from Boston, Massachusetts.

Private First Class James B. Kondrick (Army Serial Number 38247116), Field Artillery, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Holland on 3 November 1944. In the early part of the afternoon of 3 November 1944 Private Kendrick was wounded in the left leg by enemy fire. By sheer courage and with complete disregard for his own physical condition and present safety, he, undauntedly, carried on for 18 hours in his mission of assisting the forward observer of his battery. Throughout this time he carried a heavy radio through a canal, through water up to his waist and also crossed plowed fields and very difficult terrain under extremely heavy enemy fire for a distance of one-half mile. Due to the courageous act of Private Kendrick, above and beyond the call of duty, his forward observer was able to give the company to which he was attached artillery support which contributed greatly to the success of the mission. This devotion to the cause of his unit and his comrades in arms, with complete disregard for his own life, reflects distinct credit to the finest traditions of the American soldier. Entered military service from Houston, Texas.

Frivate First Clase Joseph J. Jordan (Army Serial Number 13168374), Field Artillery, United States Army, for gallantry in action in H. and from 31 October to 1 Neverber 1944. As soon as darkness settled down, Frivate Bytof, with four other voluntoers, accompanied the bettery commander in making a river crossing for the purpose of establishing communications with the infantry battalion and ther by bring relief to their distressed comrades in the battalion. This action was carried out upon his own volition with complete disregard for his own personal safety. He was planted down many times by enemy mechine gun fire after the river crossing had been made, the mission however, was accomplished. During the action after the river had been crossed, the battery gommander was killed. Private livtor, upon the completion of this action, exemplified bold courses and bravery in miling to carry the body of his bettary commander back across the dika and an op a field under withering enemy fire to a floating feet bridge, which had been stablished during the night, and from thence to an aid station. This act of courage in fulfilling a minsion above and beyond the call of duty is a distinct or whit to the military service and exemplifies the highest standards of the American soldier. Entered military service from Wither, Wisconsin.

Private First Class William E. Rost (Army Serial Number 36815505), Infantry, United States Army, for heroic achievement in connection with military operations in Holland on 26 October 1944. On 26 October 1944, while under heavy enemy rifle, mortar, and artillery fire, and with total disregard for his own personal safety, Private Rost left his covered positi, and opened fire on an enemy machine gun which was holding up the advance of his plateon. This display of courage was a great inspiration to the other members of the plateon which, as a result thereof, proceeded forward and defeated the enemy. The action which resulted in the death of Private Rost took place over flat terrain where the enemy had good visibility and were occupying previously prepared positions. This set of courage, above and beyond the call of duty, the emission of which would have brought no discredit upon himself, reflects the highest oredit on the military parvice and promulgates the spirit of the American soldier. I-SILVER STAR MEDAL-Posthumous Awards-By direction of the President, under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 Suptember 1943, as amended, and pursuant to the authority contained in Paragraph 4, Section I, Circular No. 66, Headquarters First United States Army, 18 May 1944, the Silver Star Medal is awarded, posthumously, to the following enlisted men:

Staff Sergeant Rev C. Hill (Army Serial Number 39079446), Medical Department, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Polland on 30 October 1944. On 30 October 1944 the unit to which Sergeant Hill was assigned was under extremely heavy shell fire from the enemy. Sergeant Hill, disregarding the imminent danger to his life by leaving his sheltered position, proceeded on his own volition not only to give aid to the wounded man of his own unit but also to carry his mission of mercy into the areas of adjoining units. This act, under the heavy enemy fire, resulted in the loss of his life. His devotion to the welfere of his rounded commades under such great odds, inspires a deep admiration for the role of the American medical soldier in his mission of mercy to his wounded commades. Entered military service from Stockton, California, Next of kin: Eda A. Hill, Route 2, Box 167 A, Fortland, Oregon.

Private First Class John Ross (Army Serial Number 36859124), Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Germany on 13 November 1944. In the early morning of 1" November 1944 Private Boss was detailed to a listening post in front of his own line. The enemy was located behind a stone wall 250 to 300 yards to his front, and in addition to adjusting their own artillary on his position they were also firing rockets directly into the same vicinity, Than the enemy rocket fire commenced, Private Boss realized the extreme danger which was being placed on some of the elements of his battalion as well as his rest, so with complete disregard for his own personal safety, he left his govered position, taking his sound power-phone with him, the purpose in mind being to determin, the exact locations of the enemy rocket guns and to bring cannon fire from his own lines upon them. In spite of the heavy enemy artillary barrage and the rock t gun firs, he moved into an exposed position in an attempt to fulfill this salf-usuign d mission. In so foing he leat his life as a result of flying shraphel from the energy artillary fire. This act of courage and bravery in the face of withering enemy fire demonstrates the highest qualities of the American soldier, and reflects egulit to the Armed Forces of the United States. Entered military durvice from Detroit, Michigan. Next of kin: Cornelia Boss, h.P.D. No. 2, Adv. Michigan.

II-SILVER STAR REDAL--Awards--By direction of the President, under the provisions of Arctic-45, 22 Sectionary 1943, as amended, and pursuant to the authority contained in Paragraph 4, Section I, Circular No. 66, Residuanters, First United States Army, the cally of Star Wedal is awarded to the following unlisted mens

Technician Fourth Grate Guillermo G. Alvarez (Army Serial Number 39853729), Medical Department, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Holland on 25 October 1944. On the night of 25 October 1944 the company to which Technician Alvarez was attached was pinned down by heavy enemy machine gun lire. Information was received that one of the men about 100 yards from Technician Alvarez's position had been badly wounded in both legs and was suffering considerably. Without hesitation and with complete disregard for his own personal safety, Tachnician Alvarez left his covered position and crawled to the sile of his agonized comrade from where he evacuated the wounded man to a place of shelter where medical aid could be given. The wounds in his legs necessitated special care in the evacuation which, in turn, prolonged the danger due to the extended period of exposure to enemy fire. This heroic act examplifies the highest traditions of the American medical soldier and reflects distinct credit to the military service. Atered military services from Yuma, Arizona.

Private First Class Max L. Alcantar (Army Serial Number 39690421), Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Germany on 18 November 1944. During mid-afternoon of 18 November 1944 Private Alcantaris company was ordered to withdraw from a small heavily wooded park. Enemy observation was very good and their mortar and artillery fire was very heavy. The plan was to withdraw in waves with leap-free protection on the right flank. An active enemy machine gun was located to the rear of the company. Private Alcantar was in the first wave, and as they came abreast of the enemy machine gun position, it opened fire on them. Private Alcantar, who was in automatic rifleman, immediately engaged the enemy machine gunner by return fire. This action required him to stand in an exposed position, both to the machine gunner and the heavy enemy mortar barrage which was being placed on them. Private Alcantar forced the silence of the enemy machine gun by this action and though wounded by shrapped, maintained this position until his company had avecessfully withdrawn to an area of safety, after which he joined them. This heroic act in the face of heavy enemy fire from fully exposed position greatly reflects the finest spirit of the American soldier. Entered military service from Freene, California.

Private First Class David L. Piker (Army Sarial Number 35546474).

Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in setion in Helland on 26 Cetober 1944. On 26 Cetober 1944 Frivate Fiker's company the being harmesed by heavy enemy machine gun, mortar and artillery fire. They were operating in open terrain and as a result many man were wounded. Private Piker, unhabitul of his own personal safety, immediately engaged himself in a self-ressigned mission of marcy to his accorded compade by assisting them to areas of safety. With disregard for the heavy enemy mortar and artillery fire, he relentlessly cared for the accorded for a period of 14 hours until farther evacuation was made possible. This act of gallantry in the face of athering enemy fire exemplifies the highest traditions of the American soldier. Entered military service from San Diego, California.

I-SILVE STAR MEDAL--By direction of the President, under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, and pursuant to the authority contained in Paragraph 4, Section I, Circular No. 66, Headquarters, First United States Army, 18 May 1944, the Silver Star Medal is awarded to the following officers and enlisted men:

Major JOHN A. MEHLHOP (Army Serial Number 0302253), Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Holland on 26 October 1944. At about 0137 on the morning of 26 October 1944, after having advanced about 800 yards from the line of departure, the leading elements of Major Mehlhop's battalion ran into heavy enemy artillery, mortar, and machine gun fire from well prepared enemy defensive positions of which they had no previous knowledge. Poor visibility, lack of cover, intensity of enemy fire, and the flat marshy terrain, made their positions untenable, so a general withdrawal was ordered. This withdrawal, made by troops in combat for the first time, in total darkness, under intense enemy artillery, mortar, and machine gun fire, was successfully accomplished due to Major Menlhop's superior leadership and total disregard for personal safety. Major Mohlhop, exposing himself to the intense enemy fire time and time again, intercepted withdrawing troops, directed them to defensive positions, and coordinated their defensive fire to such an extent that they successfully repulsed an enemy counter attack launched shortly after the reorganization was completed. This act of courage and bravery at great hazard to his life is in the best traditions of the military service. Entered military service from Roswell, New Mexico.

First Lieutenant STANLEY D. GOLUB (Army Serial Number 01298857), Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Holland on 26 October 1944. At about 0130 on the morning of 26 October 1944, after having advanced about 800 yards from the line of departure, the battalion to which Lieutenant Golub was assigned ran into heavy enemy artillery, mortar, and machine gun fire from well prepared enemy defensive positions of which they had no previous knowledge. Poor visibility, lack of cover, the intensity of enemy fire and the flat marshy terrain made their position untenable, so a general withdrawal was ordered. In spite of the danger, and at great risk of life, Lieutenant Golub remained with the forward elements of his battalion assisting in the withdrawal. In spite of the total darkness, the intensity of enemy fire, and the newness of the troops in combat, the withdrawal was successfully accomplished. The assistance of Lieutenant Golub, with utter disregard for his personal sifety exemplified by his constant personal supervision and superior leadership was invaluable in the accomplishment of this maneuver. This act of courage and bravery at great peril to his life brings him great credit, and reflects the highest qualities of the American soldier. Entered military service from Seattle, Washington.

Staff Sergeant: Archer L. Bradshaw (Army Serial Number 39323785), Infantry, United States Army; for gallantry in action in Germany on 16 November 1944. On the morning of 16 November 1944 Sergeant Bradshaw in charge of an eight-man patrol had been given the mission of occupying a pillbox which was, reportedly, unoccupied. Upon nearing the pillbox, Sergeant: Bradshaw discovered an outpost of two enemy soldiers about 75 yards from the pillbox. Halting the patrol, he crawled forward and discovered two more enemy soldiers crawling down as connecting trench to relieve the outpost. Unobserved, he waited patiently for the relief to arrive at the outpost, whereupon he captured all four Germans and returned them to the company command post. Returning to complete his mission, he crawled up the same connecting trench, used by the German relief, to the He was fired on by eight of the enemy pillbox which his patrol was to occupy. from outside the pillbox. Sergeant Bradshaw quickly fired a rifla grenade . and several rounds of ammunition before returning to the patrol. The enemy concentrated heavy artillary, mortar, and small arms fire on the area occupied by his patrol, but he led them safely back without a casualty. The courageous aggressiveness of Sergeant Bradshaw saved the lives of many of the members of ' his patrol. This act of bravery at great risk to his life, is a great credit to himself and to the military service. Entered military service from Portland, Oregon.

United States Army, for gallantry in action in dolland on 5 November 1944. On the morning of 5 November 1944 Sergeant Skars* company was advancing along a dike when suddenly the enemy opened fire from a distance of 300 yards with two machine guns, a light tank, and an anti-tank gun. The intensity of the fire pinned the entire company to the ground and wounded the entire crew of one light machine gun. Noting this, Sergeant Skars advanced to the machine gun position, and, with complete disregard for the danger to his life, stood erect while fully exposed to the fire of the enemy, and fire the light machine gun from his hip. His accurate and very determined fire caused the enemy to withdraw, thus enabling his company to fall back to more favorable positions. By this act of bravery, above and beyond the call of duty, with utter disregard for his personal safety, he saved the lives of many of his comrades and earned distinction for himself in the military service. Entered military service from Chicago, Illinois:

Sargeant John E. McCaslin (Army Serial Number 33395378), Infantry, United States_Army, for gallantry in action in Holland on 2 November 1944. On the early morning of 2 November 1944 Sergeant McCaslin leading a three-man patrol returning from a reconnaissance mission encountered five enemy soldiers entrunched between them and a river, which they had to cross to return to their own forces. Though it would have been very easy to by-pass them undetected and return to their own lines in safety, Sergeant McCaslin launched an attack. One of the enemy soldiers was killed and two captured without loss to the patrol. The information divulged by these prisoners was of great value to friendly forces who later made a river crossing in force. This act of Sergeant McCaslin, above and beyond the call of duty, undoubtedly saved the lives of many of his commades. This act of courage and bravery is a distinct credit to himm a self and the armed forces of the United States. Entered military services from Durussna, Pennsylvania.

General Orders #22, Headquarters, 104th Infantry Division, 4 December 1944, page 3.

Private First Class Donald M. Bertsch (Army Serial Number 37242085), Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Germany from 17 November to 18 November 1944. During the entire day and night of 17 and 18 November 1944 the company to which Private Bertsch was assigned was angaged in the mission of clearing cut the enemy from a small wooded park and from a number of houses surrounding the park. Private Bertsch was leading the squad which comprised the secon! assault group at the head of the company attack. The company was under constant heavy enemy artillery, mortar, and small arms fire throughout the entire period. As a result of this heavy fire, Private Bertsch had his right arm completely destroyed. He improvised a tourniquet from his handkerchief to stop the flow of blood and continued to call instructions to his squad from where he had fallen. Later, when he was evacuated, he refused to be carried on a litter, of which there was a critical shortage. Instead, he walked beside one of his comrades, who was a litter case, trying to comfort him. This outstanding example of courage and bravery, with greater regard for the welfare of his comrades than for himself, brought him great distintion in the eyes of his comrades and in the military service. Entered military service from Green, Kansas.

United States Army, for gallantry in action in Holland on 5 November 1944.

Oh the morning of 5 November 1944 the company of which Private Jordan was a member was advancing along a dike when suddenly the enemy opened fire from a distance of 300 yards with two machine guns, a light tank, and an anti-tank gun. Many were killed or wounded, and the remainder of the company were pinned to the ground. Private Jordan, being the only member of a light machine gun craw who wasn't a casualty, rimoved the machine gun from its mount and moved from position to position from the enemy, carrying his own ammunition.

This act of bravery, above and beyond the call of duty and with complete discregard for the hazard to its life, forced the enemy to withdraw and permitted his company to occupy better positions and saved the lives of many of his compades. This courageous act reflects great credit to himself and to the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from Boston, Massachusetts.

Private First Class Eddie R. Moreno (Army Serial Number 39268983),
Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Holland on 25 October 1944. On the night of 25 October 1944 the unit to which Private Moreno was assigned was pinned down by a heavy barrage of enemy mortar and machine gun fire. Many of his comrades hal been killed by the intense fire, but undatinted, Private Moreno set up his macrine gun alone. The class proximity of his own troops prevented him from firing on the enamy. Visibility was poor, and while he was assarching for a more advantageous position for his machine gun, he received the order to withdraw. He alone carried the entire gun, together with two boxes of ammunition, through withering enemy fire and over a barbed wire fence. There he found an ammunition bearer of his squad, who assisted him in carrying the weapon to a position where he could cover the reorganization of the battalion. This act of heroism, without regard for his personal safety in the face of withering enemy; fire, prevented the loss of the machine gun which later proved of great value in the reorganization of our troops and in the defeat of the enemy. This act of bravery, the omission of which would have reflected no discredit upon himself, reflects distinct credit to himself and to the military service. Entered military service from Los Angeles, California.

General Orders #22, Headquarters, 104th Infantry Division, 4 December 1944, page 5

Sergeant Nowlin J. Smith (Army Serial Number 35091634), Infantry, United States Army, for heroic achievement in connection with military operations in Holland on 1 and 2 November 1944. During the period 1 M wember to 2 November 1944 Sergeant Smith was a part of elements of his company which were separated from friendly forces after a river crossing operation 1 November 1944. During this time Sergeant Smith actively participated in the holding of the ground . . .. gained and resisted five separate counter attacks by infantry and SP guns. During this time they were subjected to constant small arms fire from enemy snipers. Although he suffered from exposure and from lack of food and water, his morale and efficiency as a soldier did not diminish. His actions during this trying situation, combined with that of his comrades, contributed greatly to the success of the operation and the holding, under extremely hazardous conuitions, of the positions gained while completely separated from friendly forces. T'is act of courage in the face of extreme danger exemplifies the highest traditions of the American soldier. Entered illitary service from Indianapolis, Indiana.

I-SILVER STAR MEDAL--Posthumous Award--By direction of the President, under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, and pursuant to the authority contained in Paragraph 4, Section I, Circular No. 66, Headquarters, First United States Army, 18 May 1944, the Silver Star Medal is awarded, posthumously, to the following enlisted man:

Private First Class Eddle R. Moreno (Army Serial Number 39268983), infantry, United States Army, [for gallantry in action in Holland on 25 October 1944. On the night of 25 October 1944 the unit to which Private Moreno was assigned was pinned down by a heavy barrege of enemy mortar and machine gun fire. Many of his comrades had been killed by the intense fire, but undaunted, Private Moreno set up his machine gun alone. The close proximity of his own troops prevented him from firing on the enemy. Visibility was poor, and while he was searching for a more advantageous position for his machine gun, he received the order to withdraw. He alone carried the entire gun, together with two boxes of ammunition, through withering enemy fire and over a barbed wire fence. There he found an ammunition bearer of his squad, who assisted him in carrying the weapon to a position where he could cover the reorganization of the battalion. This act of horofam, without regard for his personal safety in the face of withering enemy fire, prevented the loss of the machine gun which later proved of great value in the reorganization of our troops and in the defeat of the unemy. This act of bravery, the omission of which would have reflected no discredit upon himself, reflects distinct credit to himself and to the military service. Entered military service from Los Angeles, California. Next of kip: Mrs. Agustina Moreno, 2605 East Second Streat, Los Angeles, California.

Sergeart Edward Ritchie (Army Serial Number 35116422), Field Artillery, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Germany on 21 November 1944. On 21 November 1944 Sergeant Ritchie's plateon leader was ordered to contact a rifle company regarding direct support with total guns. In order to establish contact it was necessary for the plateon leader and Sergeant Ritchie to move forwar! along a narrow defiled read covered by enemy small arms, machine gun, and artillery fire. After they established contact they found the radio set, which was the only means of communication, to be inoperative. Sergeant Ritchie, voluntarily and with complete disregard for his personal safety, returned through heavy enemy fire and sequred another ene-quarter ton vehicle with a radio, thus establishing communication between the plateon's gun and the forward observer. Sergeant Ritchiets display of gallantry and courage reflects great credit on him self and the armod forces of the United States. Entered military service from Eaverly, Ohic.

VFirst Lieutenant LAURANCE G. WOLFE (Army Serial Number 01289182), . . Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in a tion in Germany on 21 November 15:4. On 21 November 1944 Lieutenant Wolf ., as acting company commander, ied his a mpany's attack on the town which was the regimental objective. With complete disregard for his personal safety, he led assault squads as they fought from house to house; personally directing their movement and encouraging them in their difficult task, 'Several times' during the action Lieutenant Wolfe moved into the street which was under constant mortar, artillery, and small arm: fire in order to communicate with tanks supporting the attack, standing in an exposed position while he diracted their movement. Wounded early in the action, he refused medical attent.... until the objective was taken and the company was reorganized for its defense. Lieutenant Wolfe's example of courage and aggressive leadership under fire reflects the highest credit on himself and the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from Staten Island, New York.

Staff Sergeant Nicholas Polivchak (Army Senial Number 17,156590), Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Germany on 22 November 1944. On the morning of 22 November 1944: Sergeant Polivchakis platoon, in advancing toward its objective, moved over the crest of a hill and encountered heavy machine gun and sniper fire. The plateon was pinned down and dug in at this position. When tanks moved up to aid his plateon, Sergeant Polivenak, with complete disregard for his personal safety and in the face of heavy enemy machine gun fire, left his covered position and returned over the crest of the hill. Climbing on the lead tank, Sergeant Polivchak directed them to a position in front of the lines, and from a completely exposed position pointed out several machine gun positions to the tank commander. Returning to his own lines, he was wounded by enemy machine gun fire, but disregarding his wound, he continued to direct his platoon's fire until forced by his platoon leader to withdraw for treatment. His courageous and exemplary leadership reflect the highest credit on Sergeant Polivchak and the military service. Entered military service from Minneapolis; Minnesota.

Sergeant Lucky C. Harker (then Private) (Army Serial Number 34439208), Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Germany on 16 and 18 November 1944. On 16 November 1944 Sergeant Harkey located a machine gun which had been placing heavy fire on his squad's flank. Sergeant Harkey and a comrade left their covered position, and, with complete disregard for personal safety, crawled 100 yards under enemy observation and heavy machine gun fire to a position 50 yards from the machine gun nest. From this point they placed such effective fire on the gun with their automatic rifles that two enemy soldiers were wounded and the gun was abandoned. Two days later Sergeant Harkey led a four-man pat of across 400 yards of flat open terrain. The patrol was pinned down by extremely heavy machine gun fire, but Sergeant Harkey courageously continued to expose himself to enemy fire in order to locate an enemy pillbox and dug-in positions. He directed artillery fire on dug-in positions and thereby eliminated two machine gun positions. Later he charted the location of the pillbox on a map and facilitated its elimination by direct fire. His acts of courage and gallantry, above and beyond the call of duty, reflect the highest credit on Sergeant Harkey and the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from Davidson, North Carolina.

I--SILVER STAR MEDAL--Posthumous Award--By direction of the President, under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, and pursuant to the authority contained in Paragraph 4, Section I, Circular No. 66, Headquarters, First United States Army, 18 May 1944, the Silver Star Medal is awarded, posthumously, to the following enlisted man:

Staff Sergeant Glenn R. White (Army Serial Number 37398180), Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Holland on 26 October 1944. On 26 October 1944 Sergeant White's company for fourteen hours was prevented from reaching its objective by heavy fire from an enemy firmly entrenched in well fortified positions. During this time Sergeant White distinguished himself by his bravery and exemplary conduct. After being wounded in the head by a sniper's bullet, he was ordered to remain under cover and receive first aid. Disragarding his porsonal safety and in the face of heavy enemy small arms and automatic weapons fire, Sergeant White left his covered position and crawled forward through an open rield to a sniper's nest, which he eliminated with hand grenades. Sergeant Thite's extreme bravery and exemplary aggressiveness was an inspiration to his comrades who followed him forward and inflicted many quaualties on the enemy. His actions, resulting in the loss of his life, reflects the highest credit on Sergeant White and exemplify the finest traditions of the American soldier. Entered military service from Mount Vernon, Missouri. Next of kin: Mrs. Lula White (Mother), Mount Vernon, Missouri,

II-SIIVER STAR MEDAL-Awards-By direction of the President, under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, and pursuant to the authority contained in Paragraph 4, Section I, Circular No. 66, Headquarters, First United States Army, 18 May 1944, the Silver Star Medal is awarded to the following officers and enlisted men:

Captain FRED 11. SWARTZ, JR. (Army Serial Number C423744), Medical Corps, wited States Army, for gallantry in action in Germany from 22 to 24 November 1944. On 22 to 24 November Captain Swartz made several trips to forward positions of the tattalion in order to aid in the evacuation of wounded. On 22 November 1944, with complete disregard for his personal safety and in the face of heavy artillery and amall arms fire, Captain Swartz left his battalion aid station and went forward to plan the evacuation of the wounded. On this occasion, Captain Swartz personally helped carry wounded to the aid station, administered medical aid, and refused to rest until all wounded had been evacuated from the field of battle and properly treated. On 24 November Captain Swartz again led litter bearers through heavy enemy fire to evacuate wounded at the height of the battle, assisting the litter bearers in their task. Captain Swartz's courageous leadership and inspiring devotion to duty saved the lives of many men, exemplifies the highest traditions of the American medical officer in the performance of his difficult mission, and reflects the highest credit on himself and the military service. Entered military service from Traverse City, Michigan.

Second Lieutenant WESLEY W. WILLIAMS (Army Serial Number 05244414), Infantry, United States army, for gallantry in action in Germany on 21 November 1944.

On 21 November 1944 Dieutenant Williams led his platoon, while under heavy enemy fire, to a position one half mile from their objective in order to attack a strong enemy position manned by SP guns. About 100 yards from the objective the platoon was pinned to the grand by an intense barrage of enemy rtillery and machine gun fire, suffering many casualties and making a withdrawal nece sary. Lieutenant Williams, with complete and utter disregard for his personal safety, left his covered position and from an exposed point of observation directed the organized withdrawal of his platoon. Lieutenant Williams remained in the forward area assisting the aid men in the evacuation of the wounded. To insure that no casualties were unattended, Lieutenant Williams, at great risk of his life and while completely exposed to enemy fire inspected the entire area and returned to his platoon while being subjected to an attense artillery barrage, organized a defensive position, and directed the evacuation of the vounded. Lieutenant Williams! bravery and fearless leadership reflect the highest credit upon himself and the armed forces of the United Trates. Entered military service from Los Angeles, California.

Staff Sergeant Billy H. Sawyers (Army Serial number 18231660), Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Holland on 25 and 26 October 1944. On the night of 25 October 1944 Sergeant Sawyers battalion encountered severe enemy machine gun fire delivered from well concealed positions. After lying for 45 minutes in open terrain swept by four bands of enemy machine gun fire, it became necessary for the battalian to withdraw. Sargeant Sawyers, without regard for his personal safety and in the face of heavy enemy machine gun fire, constantly exposed himself in order to organize a defensive position, placing each man in resition and shouting words of encouragement to his comrades. On the following morning, Sergeant Sawyers voluntarily organizes and led a patrol forward, obtaining information which enabled the battalion to successfully continue the attack. His outstanding leadership and courage, above and beyond the call of duty, reflects the highest crudit on Sargeant Sawyers and the armed forces of the United Status. Entered military service from San Antonio, Texas.

Sergeant Harlan B. Simmons (then Corporal) (Army Serial Number 33482289), Cavalry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Germany on 19 November 1944. On 19 November 1944 while on road reconnaissance, the lead "jeep" of Sergeant Simmons' platoon struck a mine, seriously wounding two men. Sergeant Simmons ordered first aid men to go to the rear and bring up a stretcher and, amidst a heavy concentration of enemy artillery and small arms fire. The forward to administer first aid to his wounded comrades. Looking back, Lergeant Simmons noticed that the stretcher party had been pinned down by heavy enemy fire. With total disrogard for his personal safety and in the face of heavy artillery and small arms fire, Sergeant Simmons raced 200 yards down the heavily mined road to obtain the stretchers. His fearless example inspired his comrades to the rear, who immediately aross and aided in getting the stretchers to the rounded men and evacuating them. Sergeant Simmons' brave action undoubtedly saved the lives of the wounded men and reflects the highest credit on himself and the military service. Entered military services from Lansdale, Pennsyly

General Orders #27, Headquarters, 104th Infantry Division, 10 December 1944, page 3.

Private First Class Simon Schoff (Army Serial Number 31288800), Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Germany on 24 November 1944. On 24 Nivember 1944 Private Scheffle platoon led the attack upon an important town. To reach the town it was necessary for the platoon to cross 900 yards of open terrain while being subjected to a withering barrage of enemy artillery, mortar, and small arms fire. Although wounded by artillery fire while traversing the open area Private Scheff continued with his platoon which was the only e ement of the company to reach its objective at that time. Hastily organizing a defense in a large house, the platoon fought desperately to prevent encirclement while being subjected to machine gun, rifle, grenade, and rocket fire being fired from emplacements 50 to 100 yards from the platoon's defensive position. In spite of his wounds, and with total disregard for his life, Private Scheff crawled to an open window that offered observation of the enemy positions. From this exposed position, by using his radio, he directed and adjusted artillery fire upon the enemy, thereby preventing the capture or destruction of his platoon and the loss of the objective. Private Scheff's courageous actions, above and beyond the call of duty, reflects the highest credit on himself and the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from Springfield, Vassachusetts.

Private First Class Aubrey W. Thomas (Army Serial Number 38422011), Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Germany on 19 November 1944. On 19 November 1944 Private Thomas reported to his battalion aid station requesting permission to lead litter bearers to the aid of a wounded comrade. Though himself wounded he refused medical aid, and skillfully, with complete disregard for his life, led the litter bearers under heavy enemy artillery fire to the wounded man. After seven hours of difficult struggle, the wounded man was returned to the aid station, but not satisfied with this accomplishment, Private Thomas led several more litter squads, while under small arms and artillery fire, to recover wounded men lying in exposed positions under enemy observation. After all casualties had been evacuated, Private Thomas consented to medical treatment. Private Thomas display of outstanding courage and devotion to his comrades reflects the highest credit upon himself and the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from Wharton, Texas.

III-SILVER STAR MEDAL (DAK-LEAF CLUSTER) -- Award -- By direction of the Fresident, under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, and pursuant to the authority contained in Faragraph 4, Section I, Circular No. 66, Keadquarters, First United States Army, 18 May 1944, in addition to the Silver Star Medal previously awarded as published in General Orders No. 27, Headquarters, 104th Infantry Division, 10 December 1944, a Bronze Oak-Leaf Cluster is awarded the following enlisted man:

Staff Sergeant Billy H. Sawyers (Army Serial Number 18231660), Infantry, "Inited States Army, for gallantry in action in Germany from 19 to 21 November 1944. During the period 19 to 21 November 1944 Sergeant Sawyers, together with the forward observers for other weapons supporting his battalion's advance, manned an observation post under direct observed enemy fire. This observation post was a lone house 100 yards in front of the last cover available for our forces. The observation post was occupied on the night of 18-19 November 1944 and because of the impossibility of getting back to cover in daylight, he was forced to go without food or water for the entire day. The following day, in spite of the heavy enemy artillery and mortar fire which was demolishing the house, Sergeant Sawyers, with utter disregard for his life, remained in the attic and continued directing mortar

I-SILVER STAR MEDAL--Posthumous Award--By direction of the President, under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1043, as amended, and pursuant to the authority contained in Paragraph 4, Section I, Circular No. 66, Headquarters, First United States Army, 18 May 1944, the Silver Star Medal is awarded, posthumously, to the following officer:

Second Lieutenant ROBERT E. MALLOW (Army Serial Number C1316654), Informary, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Holland on 5 November 1544 Lieutenant Mallow's platoon was pinned form by extremely heavy enemy machine gun, machine pistol, and sniper fire. Lieutenant Mallow organized a patrol, and with complete disregard for his life, he led it across the open, fire-swept terrain. After advancing fifty yards, the patrol was subjected to accurate direct fire from a machine gun emplacement, illing one man and pinning the rest of the patrol to the ground. Lieutenant Mallow, fully realizing the extreme danger, movel forward alone in an effort to allone the enemy weapon. Lieutenant Mallow's heroic action resulted in his being fatall: wounded, but his courageous leadership and self-sacrifica inspired the man of his platoon to continue the attack and eliminate the machine gun nest, successfully completing the platoon's mission. Lieutenant Mallow's courageous leadership, bravery, and tenesity of purpose reflects the highest credit on himself and the military service. Intered military service from Kenton, Ohio. (Next of kin: Mrs. Laura A. Mallow, aton, Ohio.)

II-SILVER STAR MEDAL-Awari-Ry direction of the President, under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, and pursuant to the authority contained in Paragraph 4, Section I, Circular No. 66, Headquarters, First U ted States Army, 18 May 1944, the Silver Star Medal is awarded to the following enlisted man:

Private First Class Robert E. Taylor (Army Serial Number 35.64770), Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Germany on 18 November 1944. On 18 November 1944 Private Taylor, with another man, moved forward under extremely heavy enemy machine gun and small arms fire in order to evacuate a wounded comrade lying in an expose position. While moving towards the rear with the casualty, Private Taylor's assistant was wounded by the heavy fire, but undiscouraged and in the face of an intense artillery and mortar barrage, he continued on to locate the litter bearers. With utter disregard for his life, Private Taylor led the litter bearers across the fire-swept terrain, supervised the evacuation, and, although wounded himself, helped carry several of his comrades to the aid station. Private Taylor's exemplary action, courage, and devotion to his companions reflects the highest credit on himself and the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from Ashtabula, Ohio.

I- SIIVER STAR MEDAL-By direction of the President, under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, and pursuant to the authority contained in Paragraph 4, Section I, Circular No. 66, Headquarters, First United States Army, 18 May 1944, the Silver Star Medal is awarded to the following enlisted man:

Staff Sergeant Ralph H. Sawyer (Army Serial Number 38287003), Infantry, . United States Army, for gallantry in action in Germany on 21 November 1944. On 21 November 1944 Sergeant Sawyer's platoon was the leading unit in an attack on the outskirts of a town. Unexpected resistance in the form of intense artillery, mortar and small arms fire, inflicting many casualties, pinned the entire platoon to the ground in the middle of an open field. Upon receipt of an order to withtraw, Sergeant Savyer voluntarily moved forward to the leading elements of the platoon. With complete disregard for his personal safety and in the face of intense fire from the enemy strongly entrenched in buildings and along a railroad embankment, Sergeant Saryer moved from squad to squad directing the fire of automatic weapons in such a manner that effective fire covered the organized withdrawal of the platoon. Sergeant Sawyer remained, constantly exposing himself to the devastating fire, to check each of the casualties and definitely determine ing that none of his commades were left bahind. In one instance it was necessary for 'im to move to within fifty yards of fixed enemy positions in order to accom, lish his self-assigned task. His superior leadership and uttor disregard for personal safety reflect the highest credit on Sergeant Sawver and the armed force of the Unitel States. Entered military service from Dallas. Texas.

I-BRONZE STAR MEDAL--Posthumous Award--By direction of the President, under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, and pursuant to the authority contained in Paragraph 4, Section I, Circular No. 66, Headquarters, First United States Army, 18 May 1944, the Bronze Star Medal is awarded, posthumously, to the following enlisted man:

Private First Class Richard M. Smit. (Army Serial Number 36811442), Infantry, United States Army, for heroic achievement in connection with military operations in Holland on 26 October 1944. On the morning of 26 October 1944 the third plateon of Private Smith's company had been ordered to attack and take a wooded area atop a small slope approximately 400 yards to its front. The plateon was able to go only one third of this distance before being pinned down by heavy enemy direct fire from flack guns, machine guns, mortars, and cannon. As a result, the first plateon, to which Private Smith was assigned, was ardered to move up on the right flank for the purpose of diverting enemy fire from the third plateon. Moving forward in rushes, three men were wounded by shrapnel hits from the flack guns. Immediately upon seeing the condition of his wounded comrades, Private Smith, himself pinned down behind the slope of a small knoll, moved from his position of safety, and with complete disregard for his personal safety, did, under direct fire from the enemy, successfully remove his rounde comrades to an area of safety to the rear. This display of courage and complete disregard for his own personal safety reflects great credit on himself and the military service. Entered the military service from Clintonville, Wisconsin. Next of kin: Mrs. Rose Smith, 819 W College Avenue, Appleton, Wisconsin.

I--SILVER STAR MEDAL--Posthumous Award--By direction of the President, under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amenced, and pursuant to the authority contained in Paragraph 4, Section I, Circular No. 66, Headquarters First United States Army, 18 May 1944, the Silver Star Medal is awarded, posthumously, to the following enlisted man:

Staif Sergeant Berlin J. Ladner (Army Serial Number 34478266), Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Germany on 19 November 1944. On 19 November 1944 Sergeant Ladner's company came under heavy fire from well entrenched enemy field fortifications, and suffered many casualties. Sergeant Ladner led a patrol to within 150 yards of the enemy positions at which point it was pinned down by heavy enemy fire which seriously wounded several men. With complete disregard for his personal safety and while under intense enemy machine gun, mortar, and small arms fire, Sergeant Ladner carried wounded men 400 yards across fire-swept terrain to a safe position where they could receive medical aid. one instance he braved enemy fire at point-blank range to rescue a seriously wounded man and while doing so was fatally wounded. Sergeant Ladner's courageous actions, above and beyond the call of duty, saved the lives of several of his comrades, were an inspiration to his fellow soldiers, and reflect the highest credit on himself and the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from Pass Christian, Mississippi. Next of kin: Mrs. Fasmaril Necase Ladrer, Route 1, Pass Christian, Mississippi.

II-SILVER STAR MEDAL--Missing in Action-By direction of the President, under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, and pursuant to the authority contained in Paragraph 4, Section I, Circular No. 66, Headquarters, First United States Army, 18 May 1944, the Silver Star Medal is awarded to the following enlisted man (missing in action):

Private First Class Clark B. Allen. Jr. (Army Serial Number 12154905), Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Holland on 8 November 1944. On 8 November 1944 Private Allen was a member of a 27-man combat patrol which suffered many casualties after encountering heavy machine gun fire while advancing along a dike leading to a town. With complete disregard for his personal safety, and in the face of intense enemy machine gun and small arms fire, Private Allen worked his way back across 600 yards of open, fire-swept terrain in search of medical aid man, and skillfully led them back over the same route.

Constantly exposing himself to heavy fire from a firmly entrenched enemy only 150 yards to his front, Private Allen administered first aid to four of his wounded comrades and directed their evacuation. Still under heavy enemy fire he returned to his company commander with accurate information as to the situation. His personal valor and unflinching devotion to duty was an inspiration to his comrades and reflects the highest credit on Frivate Allen and the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from New York City, New York. Next of kin: Mr. Clark B. Allen, Sr., Marion, Massachusetts.

III-SILVER STAR MEDAL--Awards--By direction of the President, under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, and pursuant to the authority contained in Paragraph 4, Section I, Circular No. 66, Headquarters, First United States Army, 18 May 1944, the Silver Star Medal is awarded to the following enlisted men:

Technician Third Grade John A. Cronin (Army Serial Number 20120620), "edical Department, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Holland on 7 "evember 1944. On 7 November 1984 a platoon of Technician Cronin's company launched an attack across 500 yards of open ground toward an enemy position known to be strongly defended. After traversing 300 yards the platoon was stepped by extremely heavy mortar, machine and rifle fire which inflicted many casualties. Knowing that the platoon's aid man would be unably to treat and evacuate all the wounded men, Technician Cronin, aid man from another platoen with complete disregard for his life and in the face of heavy fire, left his covered position and ran forward to the assistance of his wounded comrades. He moved from man to man administering first aid, an' although evacuation of the men in the most forward positions was impossible at that hour, Technician Cronin novertheless crawled to their sides, administered first aid, and moved them to positions of relative safety. Returning to the company area across the fire-swept terrain, he organized volunteer litter bearer teams which he took forward at dusk and, despite heav; machine gun and mortar fire, successfully evacuated twenty-one casualties. His courageous actions and devotion to duty exemplify the highest traditions of the American medical soldier in his mission of marcy and reflect the highest credit on Technician Crowin and the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from hoston, Massachus atts.

Private First Class Charles F. Kotarski (Army Serial Number 33470482), Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Holland on 5 November 1944. On 5 November 1944 Private Kotarski's company was advancing along a like when suddenly the enemy opened fire from a distance of 300 yards with two machine guns, a light tank, and an anti-tank gun. The intensity of the fire pinned the entire company to the ground and wounded Private Kotarski in both logs and an arm. Disregarding the pain from his wounds and with complete disregard for his life, Private Kotarski crawled 50 yards with his radio across open, fire-swept terrain and in the face of heavy artillery and machine gun fire to his company commander. Lying in the open and bleeding bally from his wounds, Frivate Kotarski withdrew to a covered position receiving medical aid only after artillery fire had been successfully adjusted on the enemy positions. Fis courageous actions, above and beyond the call of duty, exemplify the finest traditions of the American soldier and reflect the highest credit on himself and the military service. Entered military service from Philadelphia. Pennsylvanda.

I-SILVER STAR MEDAL-By direction of the President, under the provisions of AR 600-45, 2. September 1943, as amended, and pursuant to the authority contained in Paragraph 4, Section I, Circular No. 66, Headquarters, First United States Army, 18 May 1944, the Silver Star Medal is awarded to the following enlisted man:

Private First Class Edward J. Zaliagiris (Army Serial Number 36853024), Field Artillery, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Germany on 5 December 1944. On 5 December 1944 Private Zaliagiris' gun crew was supporting an infantry battalion being subjected to an enemy counter attack spearheaded by tanks. While on observation, Private Zaliagiris discovered an enemy tank which was out of his platoon's field of fire. With complete disregard for his personal safety and in the face of heavy artillery, mortar and small arms fire, Private Zaliagiris teamed up with an infantryman to fire at the tank with a bazooka. He fired three shots and scored two hits, and then pursued the partly disabled tank. In so doing, he encountered a second tank which he fired on and scored a direct hit from 15 yards, killing an enemy soldier and partially disabling the tank. Having exhausted his supply of rockets Private Zaliagiris returned through the heavy enemy fire, procured five rounds, and gave chase to the disabled tank, scoring a direct hit. The personal bravery, fearless devotion to duty, and perseverance displayed by Private Zaliagiris reflect great credit on himself and the military service. Entered military service from Detroit, Michigan.

I-SILVER STAR MEDAL--Py direction of the President, under the provisions of AR 600-15, 22 September 1943, as amended, and pursuant to the authority contained in Paragraph 4, Section I, Circular No. 66, Headquarters, First United States Army, 18 May 1944, the Silver Star Medal is awarded to the following officers and enlisted men:

Captain FRANK L. MILLER (Army Serial Number (419068), Medical Corps, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Germany on 27 November 1944. On 27 November 1944 Captain Miller, whose normal post of duty is in the rear of the battalion command post, voluntarily moved his battalion aid station to the town where the battalion observation post was located, knowing that the town was being subjected to an intense artillery barrage. With complete disregard for his personal safety and in the face of the intense artillery barrage, Captain Miller worked uncasingly for a 24-hour period, evacuating 93 casualties. The intensity of the artillery fire made it necessary to move the aid station several times and five members of the detaclment were wounded by the fire. Captain Miller's courageous actions saved the lives of many soldiers, exemplifies the highest traditions of the American medical officer in his mission of mercy, and reflects the highest credit on himself and the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from Collegeville, Pennsylvania.

Captain JAMES F. MILLINOR (then First Lieutenant) (Army Serial Number Ol289296), Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Germany on 2 December 1944. On 2 December 1944 Captain Milling, after conducting his platoon lunters on a detailed reconnaissance, thoroughly orienting all subordinate leaders and briafing each man of his command, lad his company in a night attack taking and holding an extremely important and difficult objective. With complete dis-regard for his personal safety, realizing that speed was all important, he led the forward elements of the attacking column through three swellen streams to the objective under the fringes of heavy covering artillary, and after supervising the occupation of their part of the objective; he traveled the length of the remainder of the column, constantly exposing himself to fire from the enemy in order to insure that the contact and speed of the attack was maintained. When the covering fire lifted, the company, under Captain Millinoris couragoous leadership, repulsed seven rapid counter attacks. As a result of Captain Millinor's skillful lealarship his company took their large objective with unusually light casualties, killing 34 and capturing 54 anamy soldiers. By his personal bravery, inspiring leadership, and unflinching devotion to duty, Captain Filling acted in keeping with the best traditions of the military service. Entered military service from Madison, Florida.

Staff Sergeant Harry Coltin (Army Serial Number 32321331), Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Germany on 16 November 1944. On 16 November 1944 Sergeant Coltin was second in command of an assault patrol which was given the mission of knocking cut a strongly protected enemy pillbox holding up the advance of the company. As the patrol advanced, Sergeant Coltin, covered by anti-tank grenades and small arms fire from the remainder of the patrol, courageously and with complete disregard for his personal safety, advanced in the face of enemy fire to place a bee hive charge against the door of the pillbox. As a result of Sergeant Coltin's actions in eliminating the enemy obstacle, many casualties were inflicted on the enemy, prisoners were taken, and the company advanced with a minimum of casualties. His valor and unflinching devotion to duty reflect great credit to himself and in military service. Entered military service from New York City, New York.

Private First Class James H. Pence (Army Serial Number 35673171), Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Germany on 21 November 1944. On 21 November 1944 Private Pence's platoon was given the mission of clearing out ix houses on the edge of a town. Upon approaching the houses the platoon was rinned lown by extremely heavy machine gun, automatic weapons, and accurate sniper fire. Private Pence, with complete disregard for his personal safety and in the face of the heavy enemy fire, left his covered position and advanced on the enemy machine gun nest firing his Automatic Rifle from the hip. Though himself seriously wounded by an enemy sniper, he continued firing, thus enabling his platoon to advance and take their objective. His voluntary actions, above and beyond the call of duty, were an inspiration to his comrades and reflect the highest credit on Private Pence and the armed forces of the United States. Entered military services from Science Hill, Kentucky.

Private First Class William E. Wright (Army Serial Number 34603056), Field Artillery, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Germany on 6 December 1944. On the night of 6 December 1944 the forward command post of the infantry battalion supported by Private Wright's Tank Destroyer company was in fire need of ammunition and flares. Private Wright, with complete disregard for his personal safety, volunteered to carry the ammunition through an intense barrage of enemy artillery, morter, and small arms fire. Not knowing the exact location of the forward command post, Private Wright was forced to move across open fire-swapt terrain, creeping and crawling from house to house until he finally reached his destination. He successfully delivered the vitally needed ammunition and then returned advancing along the same route. The courageous example and willingness to go beyon? the ordinary call of duty reflects distinct credit upon himself and upon the military service. Entered military service from Norwood, North Carolina.

II--FRONZE STAR MEDAL--By direction of the President, under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, and pursuant to the authority contained in Paragraph 4, Section I, Circular No. 66, Handquarters, First United States Army, 18 May 1944, the Bronze Star Welsl is awarded to the following officers:

1--SIIVER STAR MEDAL--Fosthumour Award--By direction of the Fresident, under the previations of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, and pursuant to the authority contained in Paragraph 4, Section I, Circular No. 66, Headquarters, First United States Army, 1 Pay 1 44, the Silver Star Medal is awarded, resthuctually, to the following oulisted, man;

Staff Sorgeant Burtis J. Taylor (then Private First Class) (Army Serial Fumber 34463540), Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Germany on 24 Fovember 1944. On 24 November 1944 a plateon of Sergeant Tayloris company launchai an attack on a strongly fortified enemy resition. After advancing to within July yards of the enemy position the assaulting platfor was pinned down by intense machine dun, mortar, and artillary fire. Convinced that the objective could not be taken frontally, the company commander decided to withdraw the assaulting plateon; however, there were no wire or radio communication; between the ristor and the company commander, and the increasant noise of combat made the shoutin: of orders impracticable. Surgeant Taylor, with complete disregard for his 116 , voluntagrad to gross 250 yards of goverless terrain under direct enamy observation and heavy enemy fire to carry the withdrawal order to the assault unit. to wing his governd position Surgeant Taylor worked his way forward under the intense artillary and mortar fire, but upon reaching the plateon's position, ha found that the rear of battle made it necessary for him to crawl to the position of each individual man if the orders he carried were to be heard. At great risk of his life Sorgant Taylor moved about the flateen area telling each man to withtraw to the company area, thus preventing the loss of life in the frontal assault on the strongly defended objective. His bravery and high devotion to duty exemplify the finest traditions of the military sarvice and reflect the highest oredit on Sergeant Taylor and the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from Fink Hill, North Carolina. Next of kin: McCoy Taylor, Route 1, Pin's Hill, North Cerolina.

I--SILVER STAR MEDAL--Awards--By direction of the President, under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, and pursuant to the authority contained in Faragraph 4, Section I, Circular No. 66, Feadquarters, First United States Army, 18 May 1944, the Silver Star Medal is awarded to the following enlisted men:

Staff Sargeant Leo K. Oren (then Sergeant) (Army Serial Number 37663626), Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Germany on 23 Povember 1944. On 23 Fovember 1944 a plateon of Sergeant Oren's company launched an attack against a strongly entrenched enemy and was pinned down short of their objective by heavy enemy artillary, mortar, and small arms fire. The plateon suffered heavy casualties and lost all contact with friendly forces. Sergeant Oren, at great risk to his life and in the face of heavy enemy fire, voluntarily left his covered position, orangled across 500 yards of muldy, fire-awept terrain and contacted the clateon. Under cover of darkness Sergeant Oren assembled the members of the plateon and led them to safety, saving them from austaining further equalities in their vulnerable position. His courageous acts, above and beyond the call of duty, eaved the lives of many of his commades and reflects the highest credit on Sergeant Oren and the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from Des Moines, Lowa.

Staif Sergeant Anthony J. Schukes (then Sergeant) (Army Serial Number 3266(334), Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Germany on 24 November 1944. On 24 November 1944 Sergeant Schukes! battalion captured a section of high ground overlooking an important objective and hastily organized a defense in autici " of a counter attack. Sergeant Schukes, section leader of a heavy machine go on, selected positions for his guns and instructed his placement could be completed, overran the protecting riflemen and reached the vicinity of Serguant Schukest weapons. Since the intermingling of friendly and enemy troops prevented the tiring of the machine guns, Sergaant Schukes, with complete disregard for his personal safety, moved to a position in front of his guns, and in the ensuing battle killed five enemy soldiers. Upon hearing that an attempt was being made to capture some rifleman, Sergeant Schukes moved forward at great risk to his life and, in a sharp engagement, dispersed the enemy after inflicting two additional equalties. His superior leadership, counge, and devotion to duty exumpli'; the finist traditions of the armal forces and reflect the highest credit on Ser pant Schules and the military service. Entered military service from Machanievilla, New York.

General Orders #37, Headquarters, 104th Infantry Division, 20 December 1944, rage 2.

Sergeant Clifford F. haynes (then Frivate First Class) (Army Serial Turber 35717213), Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Germany on 16 November 1944. On 16 November 1944 Sergeant Haynes! company was being hell up in their advance by a well sighted enemy machine gun whose fire completely pinnel all forwer? Thanks of his company to the ground. Sergeant Haynes, voluntarily and with complete disregard for his personal safety, left his covered contains and set up is machine gun in a completely exposed position to enable him to beliver more effective fire on the enemy gun. He completely neutralized the gun wounding and capturing all members of its four-man craw. Sergeant Haynes! courageous act enabled his company to advance and seize an important pill-box which was helling up the advance of two companies. His courageous actions, above and beyond the call of duty, exemplify the facest traditions of the military service and reflect the highest credit on Sergeant Haynes and the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from Palucah, Kentucky.

Sergeant Walter M. Phillips, Jr. (Army Serial Mumber 33654192), Field Artillery, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Germany or 17 November 1944. Un 17 November 1944 Sergeant Phillips was reconnaissance sergeant of a forward observer team attached to an infantry company. The enemy unleasted a Cierce counter attack in the early morning hours, subjecting the company to an intense machine gun, mortar, and small arms barrage. During the attack the forwerl observer was wounted in the arm and Sergoant Phillips voluntarily assumed the responsibility of translating fire commands to the radio operator. The imract of the attack forced the company to withdraw to a wooded area and regroup, but Sergeant Fhillips, at great risk to his life and in the face of fierce enemy firm, ramained at his post with his forward observer and continued his firing missions, succeeding in laying down a smoke concentration under cover of which the company was able to withdraw. After the evacuation of his forward observer, 3-regeant Phillips continued to prepare fires, and upon reaching the comparative safety of the woole he constantly exposed himself to enemy machine gon fire in order to carry out his self-assigned mission. His bravery, initiative, and logiership, above and beyond the call of duty, materially minimized the number of casualties of the infantry company he was supporting and reflects the highest credit on Sorgaant Phillips and the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from Lynchburg, Virginia.

First Lieutenant WARREN G. CONRAD (Army Serial Number C116249), Field Artillery, United States Army, for callantry in action in Germany on 23 December 1944. On 243 Dacember 1944 Lieutenant Conrad was artillery forward observer with a rifle company spearheading and establishing a brilgehead in an important river crossing operation. Early in the attack an artillary shell detonated in the immediate vicinity dazing Lieutenant Conrad and wounding both his men. Still mentally alert, Lieutenant Conrad at great risk to his life in the face of heavy enemy fire, supervised the evacuation of one of his wounded men, and thereafter he picked up the wire equipment of one of the wounded men and continued the alvance with his company. Burdened by the additional equipment and despite heavy counter fire, Lieutenant Conrad supported the advance in a superior manner, adjusting accurate and deadly fire on the enemy positions, contributing materially to the gaining of the company's objective. When the objective was taken, Lieutenant Conrad evacuated his wounded radio operator, and in the face of deadly fire from the enemy, he continued his mission, helping to repulse a strong enemy counter attack with accurately placed artillary support. Lieutenant Conrad lost his life in the course of this action when an artillery shell made a direct hit on the observation post in which he was stationed. His courageous actions, initiative, and devotion to duty exemplify the finest traditions of the military service and reflect the highest crafft on Lieutenant Conrad and the armed forces of the United States. I--SILVER STAR MEDAL--Awards--By direction of the resident, under the provigions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, and pursuant to the authority contained in Paragraph 4, Section I, Circular No. 66, Headquarters, First United States Army, 18 May 1944, the Silver Star Medal is awarded to the following officer and enlisted mens.

Major CASPER CLOUGH, JR. (Army Serial Number 021979), Infantry, United States Army, for gellantry in action in Germany on 5 December 1944. On the morning of 5 December 1944 Major Clough's battalion had just secured a town and were receiving a relentless counter attack spearheaded by enemy tanks and infantry. The companies in the town were isolated when both wire and radio communications with the battalion were blown out. Major Clough volunteered to coordinate the attack. Proceeding to the town at great risk to his life, Major Clough constantly exposed himself to the heavy enemy fire in order to establish liaison with all units fighting in the town and succeeded in consolidating an attack that not only staved off the enemy but completely repelled the counter attack and pushed the enemy from the town. His courage, superior legistable, and willingness to go beyond the ordinary call of duty were an inspiration to his men and reflect the greatest credit on Major Clough and the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from Saugerties, New York.

Tachnical Sorgeant Charles E. Shehan (then Staff Sergeant) (Army Serial Number 36437855), Identry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Germany from 17 to 18 November 1944. During the period from 17 to 18 November 1944 Sergeant Shehan led his squad in repelling enemy counter attacks on a newly won town, and when his unit was forced to withdraw he remained behind covering the withdrawal from an exposed position, killing three enemy soldiers. Sergeant Shehan, at great risk to his life, then led three man across open, fire-scept terrain in order to evacuate his plateen leader. Successfully completing this mission, Sergeant Shehan, constantly exposing himself to heavy enemy fire and with complete disregard for is personal safety, again led his men in repulsing a strong enemy attack on the command post. His outstanding leadership and courage was an inspiration to his rem, daved many lives, contributed materially to his company's subcess, and reflected the highest credit on Sergeant Shehan and the military service. Entered military service from Taylorville, Illinois.

Stuff Sorgant kaymond F. Pusatow (Army Serial Number 16116649), Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Germany on 4 December 1944. I--SILVER STAR MECAL--Awards--By direction of the President, under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, and pursuant to the authority contained in Paragraph 1a(1), Memorandum No. 34, Headquarters, Ninth United States Army, 8 September 1944, the Silver Star Medal is awarded to the following enlisted men:

amend ly 20 109-16 agr. Private Gene T. Gendee (Army Serial Number 35655477), Infantry, Company F, 413th Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Germany on 27 November 1944. On 27 November 1944 elements of the company to which Private . Gandee was assigned were pinned down while advancing by heavy enemy automatic weapons and sniper fire delivered from a well entrenched enemy to the front and toth flanks. Private Gandee, with another soldier, crawled to an exposed position at great risk to his life and in the face of the heavy enemy fire, brought an enemy machine gun under fire, eliminating it. Private Gandee was wounded in this action, but he continued to place fire on the enemy and was again wounded while returning to his original position. Under enemy observation and heavy fire, he completed repairs on two automatic rifles and took an exposed position to cover the advence. On two occasions, in order to continue placing fire on the enemy, he filled firing positions where men had already been wounded. Wounded a third time, it was necessary for Private Gandee to withdraw for medical aid. His courageous action facilitated the safe withdrawal of his comrades. This display of fearlessness, marked determination, and unflinching devotion to duty reflect the highest credit on Private Gendee and the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from Clendenin, West Virginia.

Private Robert D. Lewis (Army Serial Number 36963268), Infantry, Company E, 414th Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Germany on 20 November 1944. On 20 November 1944 Private Lewis, as leader of an assault unit, was assigned the mission of clearing the enemy from a section of an important town. His unit cleared four houses before it encountered heavy automatic small arms fire talivered from two enemy entrenchments, placed in the center of vacant corner ots astride a street down which the unit was moving and which afforded unobstructed observation of an important intersection. Dividing his men into two groups, . Private Lewis attempted to encircle the emplacements, but both groups were driven back by machine gun fire, rifle fire, and hand grenades. Placing his automatic weapons in strategic positions on the second floor of a house, Private Liwis instructed his men to fire on the emplacements on the right while he attempted to reach the one on the left. At great risk to his life, Private Lowis crossed 30 yards of flat, open terrain, firing his sub-machine gun from his hip, and upon reaching his objective he knelt beside the aperture of the fortification and sprayed the interior with machine gun fire, capturing the five enemy soldiers not killed or wounded by the fire. Sending the prisoners to the rear, Private Lewis, while under heavy fire, moved across the street to the other enemy position and, after raking the inside with machine gun fire, captured all the occupants. Private Lewis' fearless actions resulted in the destruction of four enemy automatic weapons, the killing of four and the wounding of three enemy soldiers, and the capture of fourteen prisoners. The singular heroism, inspiring leadership, and great courage displayed by Private Lewis reflect great credit on himself and the military service. Entered military service from Decatur, Illinois

Private Norman J. Weinreber (Army Serial Number 32834019), Medical Department, Cc. 149 B, 329th Medical Battalion, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Germany on 26 November 1944. On 26 November 1944 the medical detachment to which Private Weinreber, an assistant ambulance driver, was attached received a request for the evacuation of four seriously wounded soldiers. The battalion making the request was completely cut off from friendly forces. Private Weinreber, voluntarily and with complete disregard for his personal safety, accompanied the rescue party which raced across 1000 yards of fire-swept area in two "jeeps" and an ambulance while machine gun fire, delivered by the enemy partially blinded by darkness, raked the road. The casualties were quickly loaded on the ambulance and the return journey made along the crater-filled road in the face of continued heavy fire. Private Weinreber's actions, above and beyond the call of duty, exemplify the highest traditions of the American medical soldier in his mission of mercy, and reflects the highest credit on himself and the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from Buffalo, New York.

When the company reached its objective, it was found that two platoons were unaccounted for. Sergea: Miller, voluntarily and at great risk of his life, set out across the fire-swept terrain, located the missing rlatoons, and boldly led them back to the rest of the company. Throughout the night he directed morter and artillary fire, which effectively drove off fierce counter attacks and effectively eliminated point blank fire from two enemy tanks. At dawn Sergeant Miller 1 of a patrol whose mission was to wipe out nearby fortifications, and under his skillful landershim this was accomplished successfully, resulting in the capture of 38 enemy soldiers. He continued to lead his men until wounded and evacuated. His courage, boldness, and inspiring leadership are in keeping with the finest traditions of the armed forces and reflect the highest credit on Sergeant Miller and the military service. Entered military service from Hicksville, New York.

I-SILVER STAR MEDAL--Posthumous Award--By direction of the President, under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, and pursuant to the authority contained in Paragraph la(1), Memorandum No. 34, Headquarters, Ninth United States Army, 8 September 1944, the Silver Star Medal is awarded, posthumously, to the following enlisted man:

Sergeant John W. Kelley (Army Serial Number 31309007), Infantry, Company E, 414th Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Germany on 18 "ovember 1944. On 18 "ovember 1944 the company to which Sergeant Kelley was assigned attacked across level open terrain toward enemy forces whose exact strength and disposition had not definitely been determined. After advancing unopposed for 500 yards the entire attacking force was pinned to the ground by machine gun fire delivered from well concealed positions to the front. Hearing that his leader had been injured by the initial burst of fire, Sergeant Kelley crawled forward and took command of the squad, and realizing that the lives of his men were unnecessarily endangered by remaining in their present exposed position, he instructed them to withdraw one by one at his direction. When his men had successfully worked their way to the rear, Sorgeant Kelley, at great risk of his life, crawled forward under the bands of machine gun fire to the side of his wounded leader. Unable to apply first aid, Sergeant Kelley slowly backed to the rear, dragging the injured man from under the enemy fire. He had progressed about 30 yards when he was fatally wounded by a burst of machine gun fire. Sergeant Kelley's courage, initiative, and willingness to go above and beyond the call of duty to insure the safety of his comrades is in keeping with the finest traditions of the armed forces of the United States and reflect the highest credit on himself and the military service. Entered military service from Brookline, Massachusetts. Next of kin: Mrs. Mary L, Kelley, 60 Harrison Street, Brookline, Massachusetts,

II--SILVER STAR MEDAL--Awards--By direction of the President, under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, and pursuant to the authority contained in Paragraph la(1), Memorandum No. 34, Headquarters, Ninth United States Army, 8 September 1944, the Silver Star Medal is awarded to the following unlisted men:

First Sergeant Homer S. Regan (Army Serial Number 6956888), Field Artillery, Battery A, 929th Field Artillery Battalion, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Gormany on 26 November 1944. On 26 November 1944 Sergeant Lagar, accompanied by his battery commander, approached a large building of a factory site with the purpose of establishing an observation post. As they drow near the building, two enemy soldiers ran out to man two anti-tank guns guarding the entrance of the building, but Sergeant Regan and his commanding officer deployed in opposite directions and took the two men prisoners, sending them to the rear. Upon hearing the sound of voices from the building, they rushed the building at great risk to their lives and captured three more prisoners in the dark basement. Setting up their observation post in an advantage position, Sergeant Regan, despite the fact that the building was being heavily shelled and blanketed with mortar fire, directed artillery fire, under cover of which the infantry was able to move in and "mop up" the area, capturing many risoners, including three from the first floor of the building in which the observation post was set up. Sergeant Regan voluntarily remained at his post and directed effective artillery fire throughout the night. His complete disregard for personal safety, his fortitude, and his tenacity of purpose, above and beyond the call of duty, examplify the finest traditions of the military service and reflect the highest credit on Sergeant Regan and the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from Kenefic, Oklahoma.

Technical Sergeant Jeddie H. Allerman (then Staff Sergeant) (Army Serial "umber 33216558), Infantry, Company E, 414th Infantry, United States Army, for callantry in action in Germany on 26 November 1944. Having once been repulsed in its afforts to capture a strongly defended town, the company to which Sergeant Alderman was assigned launched a second attack toward the same objective on the afternoom of 26 November 1944. About 200 yards from the objective leading elements of the company ancountered intensa rifle and automatic small arms fire delivered from the enemy's primary positions. Realizing that the success of the affort depended upon the company's continued movement, Sergeant Alderman, acting platoon sargeant, walked among his prone men with complete disregard for his personal safety, ancouraging them to follow him forward. Inspired by his bravery, his men followed him as he moved boldly through the enemy fire. Nearing the memy implacements, Sergeant Alderman calmly raised his rifle to his shoulder, shot two enemy soldiers, continued moving forward, and led his men in a fire fight which cleared the enemy positions. Sergeant Alderman then hastily recognized his men and continued the attack toward the enemy's secondary line, and again his courageous leadership carried his men into close combat with the enemy, resulting in the capture of the positions. After organizing a temporary defense of this intermediate objective and while waiting until the adjacent units had trawn abreast of his advanced position, Sergeant Alderman lad his man through a largeralized enemy and into the town. His courage, ingenuity, and superior les lership saved the lives of many of his comrades in forcing the early collapse of the enemy's defenses and reflected the highest credit on Sergeant Alderman and the armal forces of the United States. Entered military service from illavilla, Virginia.

Private First Class Donald C. Fleming (Army Serial Number 18200886), Infantry, Company I, 415th Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action in Jermany from 3 to 5 December 1944. On the night of 3 December 1944 the company to which Frivate Fleming was assigned attacked a strongly defended town across 1000 yards of open terrain in the face of heavy enemy artillery, machine num, and small arms fire. Private Fleming, although hampered by his radio, made his way across the field and succeeded in reaching the outskirts of the town, thereby establishing the only means of communication between his company and the battalion. Once in the town Private Fleming acted as sniper, radio operator, and morter observer and helped prepare the defenses in the house the company occupied, employing Tommy-gun, M-1 rifle, and granades so effectively that he personally was respectable for the death of 13 enemy paratroopers. From a completely exposed position during a strong enemy counter attack, Private Fleming, at great

Leaving the last covered position in the rear, Sergeant Rost displaced one gun and led it forward to a position of partial defilade 150 yards from the enemy emlincements and, not vishing to vaste fire on a vell concealed enemy weapon, decided to have his second gun to an exposed position from which accurate fire could be placed on the enemy. Instructing the squad leaders of both guns to open fire instantly if the enemy disclosed its position by firing, Sergeant Rost, at great risk to his life, dashed across the open field toward the position occupied by the company. In this action he lost his life, but the bursts of fire marked the tar-. to for his gunners, and together they raked the enemy emplacements until the enemy automatic veapons were silenced. Resuming the attack, the company quickly reached its objective. Vith full knowledge of the danger he was facing, Sergeant host voluntarily exposed himself to enemy fire in executing his daring but well Inid plan. At the cost of his life, he displayed gallant leadership far above and ter and the ordinary call of cuty that reflects the highest honor upon Sergeant Rost and exemplifies the finest traditions of the armod forces of the United States. untered military service from Minneapolis, Minnesota.
