I. SILVER STAR (POSTHUMOUSLY). By direction of the President, under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, a Silver Star was posthumously awarded to:

Sergeant WILLIAM R. FINCH (Army Serial Number 34734855), 293d Engineer Combat Battalion, United States Army. For gallantry in action against the enemy on 2 February 1945 in Brittany, France. When his volunteer reconnaissance patrol was ambushed and subjected to intense enemy fire, Sergeant FINCH was severely wounded about the legs by the initial bursts and fell within full observation of the enemy. Sacrificing his life to avoid the inevitable annihilation or capture of his patrol, Sergeant FINCH ordered the remainder of the patrol to withdraw. Then from his prone position, he covered the patrol's safe withdrawal by directing incessant fire against the enemy positions until he was killed. His supreme sacrifice reflects the highest credit upon himself and the military service. Next of kin: Mrs F D Finch (Mother), 834 Broadway Street, Dyersburg, Tennessee.

II. SILVER STAR. By direction of the President, under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, a Silver Star was awarded to:

Private First Class ROY W. DAVIS (Army Serial Number 34348776), Company E, 263d Infantry, United States Army. For gallantry in action on 19 April 1945 in Brittany, France. Private First Class DAVIS was an automatic rifleman and lead scout on the left attacking squad of a combat patrol. During the action an enemy machine gun raked his squad with fire as it moved into position but he continued forward daringly, firing his automatic rifle from the hip until he knocked out the enemy gun. The squad was then pinned down by intense automatic, 50mm, 75mm and 150mm fire and had three casualties from booby traps and mortar fragments. Later, while his squad withdrew, Private First Class DAVIS voluntarily engaged the enemy, intentionally drawing fire toward himself in order to divert it from the three wounded men who could not move far without assistance. His courageous action in the face of heavy fire permitted the safe withdrawal of his patrol and the wounded members and saved the patrol from destruction. His bravery was an inspiration to all members of his organization. Entered the military service from Fulton, Mississippi.

Private First Class HERBERT E. HATTEL (Army Serial Number 33485544), Company E, 263d Infantry, United States Army. For gallantry in action on 19 April 1945 in Brittany, France. When the left flank of two assaulting squads was pinned down by machine gun, artillery and mortar fire, Private First Class HATTEL, a member of the right squad, effectively directed fire from his automatic rifle neutralizing the fire of one enemy mortar and helping to neutralize one enemy machine gun. Although his position was subjected to intense enemy fire, he remained there firing so effectively that the left squad was able to withdraw safely and to evacuate its wounded. As his squad began to withdraw, an enemy submachine gun began firing. Private First Class HATTEL remained in position until he had silenced the hostile gun, thereby permitting his squad to withdraw safely. His heroic actions in the face of intense enemy fire were an inspiration to all members of his organization. Entered the military service from Northampton, Pennsylvania.

Private First Class ERNEST C. WOOD (Army Serial Number 36902289), Company G, 263d Infantry, United States Army. For gallantry in action against the enemy on 14 April 1945 in Brittany, France. During a night patrol action, Private First Class

WOOD, one of two scouts, was brought suddenly under point blank machine pistol and machine gun fire which he led his companion scout and pinned down the remainder of the patrol. Waiting until he heard two enemy pistol magazines fall to the ground, he rushed forward to the hedgerow from where the pistols had been fired and opened fire with his submachine gun killing two of the enemy. Private First Class WOOD then moved to a point nearby and directed his fire on two enemy machine gunners whose fire was endangering the entire patrol, forcing them to change positions. The heroic actions displayed by Private First Class WOOD are in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and were an inspiration to all. Entered the military service from Collinsville, Illinois.

I. SILVER STAR. By direction of the President, under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, a Silver Star was awarded to:

Private First Class ROBERT J MCGEE (Army Serial Number 33678360), Medical Detachment, 264th Infantry, United States Army. For gallantry in action on 26 April 1945 in Brittany, France. During a heavy concentration of enemy artillery fire which landed in his company area, Private First Class MCGEE and seven other men were seriously wounded. Although suffering from serious wounds and unable to move, Private First Class MCGEE, an experienced aid man, directed the other enlisted men who had no skilled medical training in the use of their compresses and first aid applications for the relief of the wounded. His courageous actions exemplified the highest devotion to his fellowmen and were an inspiration to all. Entered the military service from Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

Private First Class WILLIAM A MERRYFIELD (Army Serial Number 37514834), Company F, 264th Infantry, United States Army. For gallantry in action against the enemy on 8 March 1945 in Brittany, France. When one of his comrades had been severely wounded, Private First Class MERRYFIELD, with utter disregard for his own personal safety, voluntarily rushed forward through an intense artillery shelling to the aid of the stricken soldier. After administering first aid, Private First Class MERRYFIELD, in the face of bursting artillery shells, covered the wounded man with his own body in order to shield him from further shell fragments. Later, he assisted in the evacuation of the wounded comrade to safety. His courageous actions and unbounded devotion to his fellowman reflect the highest credit upon himself and the military service. Entered the military service from Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

I. SILVER STAR. By direction of the President, under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, a Silver Star was awarded to:

Staff Sergeant FRANK A JAKUBOWSKI (Army Serial Number 6710731), Company F, 262d Infantry, United States Army. For gallantry in action on 27 April 1945 in Brittany, France. Staff Sergeant JAKUBOWSKI, with the members of his reconnaissance patrol, was returning to his own lines after completing a mission when his patrol's route of withdrawal was cut off by a thirty-man enemy patrol. The Germans on both flanks opened fire with machine guns, machine pistols and rifles but Sergeant JAKUBOWSKI, exhibiting great presence of mind and judgment, withheld fire in order not to reveal the size and position of his patrol. He then called for mortar fire on both flanks of his patrol and between his patrol and friendly lines. Utilizing this mortar fire, Sergeant JAKUBOWSKI rapidly moved his patrol through 200 yards of open terrain and wire entanglements to the safety of his lines without a casualty. During the withdrawal, Sergeant JAKUBOWSKI exposed himself to the enemy fire in order to personally direct the movement of each man in his patrol. When a rescue patrol was discovered moving into the same trap, he fearlessly stood up amid the hail of enemy fire to shout a warning to the approaching rescue patrol. His gallant actions were an inspiration to all members of his organization and are in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service. Entered the military service from Utica, New York.

Private First Class RICHARD D PARKS (Army Serial Number 32039539), Company C, 262d Infantry, United States Army. For gallantry in action on 26 March 1945 in Brittany, France. Private First Class PARKS and three companions were stationed in an outpost which, because of the peculiarities of the terrain, was in an especially exposed and dangerous position and under direct enemy observation. On the night of 26 March 1945 a 24-man enemy patrol attacked the outpost and called for the surrender of the men. With undaunted courage, Private First Class PARKS replied by firing burst after burst from his BAR until his weapon jammed. The enemy patrol then retaliated with all their weapons including machine pistols and grenades. After his weapon jammed, Private First Class PARKS had the other men load rifles and kept firing them at the enemy. Although already wounded on the knuckles and hands, he continued firing until two rifles were damaged by enemy fire and all ammunition had been expended. When the firing ceased, the enemy patrol entered the outpost and took two of the enlisted men as prisoners. One other man escaped capture in the darkness. Private First Class PARKS pretended he was mortally wounded and was left for dead. His courageous fighting spirit and unwillingness to surrender in the face of overwhelming odds were an inspiration to all members of his organization and reflect the highest credit upon himself and the military service. Entered the military service from Syracuse, New York.

Private First Class HENRY C WEST (Army Serial Number 31376103), Company E, 262d Infantry, United States Army. For gallantry in action on 28 April 1945 in Brittany, France. On the morning of 28 April 1945, Private First Class WEST as an automatic rifleman was operating in an eight-man squad with the mission of ambushing three enemy paratroopers. As the enemy walked into the trap, Private First Class WEST'S squad leader stood up and called to two of them to surrender. Simultaneously the third enemy paratrooper from an unobserved position raised his machine pistol to fire on the squad leader. Private First Class WEST unhesitatingly jumped up on a hedgerow exposing himself to hostile fire and killed the enemy soldier with a burst from his automatic rifle. Before Private First Class WEST could regain cover, another of the enemy fired with a machine pistol wounding and knocking him off the hedgerow. Private First Class WEST'S timely and self-sacrificing action saved his squad leader from death or injury and permitted his squad to accomplish its mission. His courage and daring were in the highest traditions of the military service and were an inspiration to all members of his organization. Entered the military service from Manchester, New Hampshire.

First Lieutenant HARRY O WILLIAMS, 01081323 (then second lieutenant), Infantry, United States Army. For gallantry in action on 27 January 1945 in Brittany, France. As cannon forward observer, Lieutenant WILLIAMS accompanied a combat patrol with the mission of capturing or destroying an enemy force which was operating in the area to the front. Shortly after his element of the patrol had encountered the enemy force, contact was lost with his group which withdrew to better positions. With complete disregard for personal safety Lieutenant WILLIAMS voluntarily went forward alone to locate the enemy force. After having moved forward about fifty yards he was subjected to enemy fire, but with exemplary courage he delivered devastating return fire upon the enemy, killing the patrol leader. Then at Lieutenant WILLIAMS' direction, accurate cannon fire was brought upon the entire enemy force killing six and causing the remainder of the patrol to withdraw. His courageous actions and outstanding devotion to duty in the face of heavy enemy fire were an inspiration to all members of his organization and reflect the highest credit upon himself and the military service. Entered the military service from Willimansett, Massachusetts.

I. SILVER STAR. By direction of the President, under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, a Silver Star was awarded to:

Technician Fifth Grade RAOUL V GLAUDE (Army Serial Number 31262406), Third Battalion Medical Section, 262d Infantry, United States Army. For gallantry in action on 19 April 1945 in Brittany, France. As an aid man with a tank-infantry team which attacked enemy positions near La Desertais, France, Technician GLAUDE followed the tanks over open ground in the face of hostile fire from well fortified positions. Shortly after machine guns opened fire, he saw a man fall and rushed to his aid. At the same time heavy enemy artillery was concentrated in the sector. Technician GLAUDE with utter disregard for his personal safety covered the stricken comrade with his own body to prevent him from being further injured by flying shell fragments. While rendering first aid, Technician GLAUDE was wounded in the right hand and leg by shell fragments. Disregarding his own wounds, he dragged, and carried the wounded man to the litter bearers 150 yards to the rear. Then upon learning that a comrade was still missing in the front lines, he summoned the aid of a fellow soldier and proceeded forward again in the face of continued heavy artillery shelling to search for the missing man. His heroic actions and complete devotion to his fellowmen under intense enemy fire reflect the highest credit upon himself and the military service. Entered the military service from Lowell, Massachusetts.

Sergeant LLOYD L HASKINS (Army Serial Number 39304502), Company G, 264th Infantry, United States Army. For gallantry in action against the enemy on 14 April 1945 in Brittany, France. On 14 April 1945, during a night patrol, Sergeant HASKINS was rear man of a patrol which was pinned to the ground by surprise close-range enemy machine pistol and machine gun fire. As the action progressed, Sergeant HASKINS, realizing that the flank and rear of the patrol were in danger of enemy envelopment and its members subject to capture or annihilation, crawled through a hail of machine gun fire to a position on the right flank. Recognizing a German approaching from the flank, he fired his rifle at the enemy soldier until the weapon jammed because of a defective clip. Momentarily, he was unable to reload and at this critical moment he observed four more enemy soldiers approaching and firing as they moved. He calmly reloaded his rifle and killed two of the enemy at point-blank range. The gallantry shown by Sergeant HASKINS in risking his life to protect his comrades and to carry out his mission was in the highest traditions of the military service and was an inspiration to all. Entered the military service from Klomath Falls, Oregon.

Private First Class ELBERT H NICKELLS (Army Serial Number 39052331), Company I, 264th Infantry, United States Army. For gallantry in action in connection with military operations against the enemy on 22 April 1945 in Brittany, France. At 0615 Pfc NICKELLS was awakened from his sleep by enemy fire. Upon moving from his dugout he discovered that one of his comrades had been killed and another wounded. He seized a BAR and moved into the open where he was confronted by five members of an enemy raiding party. The enemy opened fire on him at distances less than 25 yards. Pfc NICKELLS immediately returned fire and killed one man, wounded another, and caused the remaining three to flee in confusion. Pfc NICKELLS then turned to the enemy group attacking his wounded comrade. Without regard for his personal safety, he straddled a hedge-row separating himself from his comrade and exposed himself to the enemy. With the aid of the wounded comrade, he then delivered a large volume of fire on the enemy, disorganizing them and causing them to flee without their weapons. By his quick and fearless action he aided greatly in dispersing the enemy and preventing them from overrunning our lines. His exemplary devotion to duty reflects the highest degree of credit upon himself and the military service and was an inspiration to all. Entered the military service from Laton, California.

Sergeant ARTHUR R WAGNER (Army Serial Number 37610509), Company B, 262d Infantry, United States Army. For gallantry in action in connection with military operations against the enemy on 19 April 1945 in Brittany, France. Sergeant WAGNER lead the center squad of a patrol raiding an enemy moss area. Upon encountering enemy small arms fire, the lead scout of Sergeant WAGNER'S patrol discovered a machine gun nest and moved forward in an attempt to eliminate the gun and thus permit the squad to advance. While advancing to storm the position the scout fell seriously wounded about five yards from the machine gun. The enemy then sent men around both flanks of Sergeant WAGNER'S squad. The greater part of the squad was ordered to withdraw in order to keep a route of withdrawal open. Sergeant WAGNER then placed two members of the squad in positions to cover him and moved forward to rescue the wounded scout. Making his way through a hail of heavy machine gun fire, he succeeded in reaching the stricken scout, and after much effort managed to drag him back to the safety of his squad. After the wounded scout was safely evacuated, Sergeant WAGNER covered the withdrawal of the entire squad. His utter disregard for his own personal safety, exemplary devotion to duty, and constant concern for the safety of his men reflect the highest credit upon himself and the military service. Entered the military service from St Louis, Missouri.

Staff Sergeant JOSEPH H WOODRING JR (Army Serial Number 37610207), Company C, 262d Infantry, United States Army. For gallantry in action against the enemy on 29 April 1945 in Brittany, France. Sergeant WOODRING, was serving as a member of a patrol with the mission of locating machine gun positions, emplacements and mines. When the patrol arrived at the approximate location of their mission, Sergeant WOODRING and two other members of the patrol moved ahead to reconnoiter an orchard and next hedgerow. At this point the enemy opened up with machine gun fire, wounding one of Sergeant WOODRING'S comrades. Sergeant WOODRING then deliberately drew enemy fire upon himself in order to carry out his mission and cause the enemy machine gunner to fire the remainder of his belt of ammunition. During the time the machine gunner spent reloading his gun, Sergeant WOODRING was able to direct the evacuation of the wounded man to safety. The remainder of the patrol also utilized the opportunity to withdraw to a safer position. Sergeant WOODRING then rejoined the patrol by crawling 125 yards under hostile machine gun, rifle and mortar fire. He miraculously escaped serious injury although a pair of binoculars were shot out of his hands and he was struck in the forehead by a fragment from a mortar shell. His exemplary devotion to duty and courageous action in the face of enemy fire reflect the highest credit upon himself and the military service and was an inspiration to all. Entered the military service from Poplar Bluff, Missouri.

BRONZE STAR MEDAL (OAK-LEAF CLUSTER)--Correction in General Orders	V

I. SILVER STAR (POSTHUMOUSLY). By direction of the President, under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, a Silver Star was posthumously awarded to:

Technician Fifth Grade FRANK M CALDARONE (Army Serial Number 31331443), Company I, 262d Infantry, United States Army. For gallantry in action against the enemy on 19 April 1945 in Brittany, France. Technician CALDARONE was in the support squad of a combined tank-infantry attack against a strong enemy force. The tanks passed through the infantry and as the assault squads pushed forward it was discovered that the assaulting tanks had overlooked a well fortified pillbox on the right flank. With utter disregard for his own personal safety, Technician CALDARONE worked his way forward, under intense small arms fire, to an open aperture in the pillbox, firing directly into it as he went. While throwing a white phosphorous grenade into the aperture, Technician CALDARONE was killed by enemy automatic fire from the pillbox. As a result of his action the balance of the support squad was able to move forward and knock out the enemy position. Technician CALDARONE'S aggressiveness, initiative and outstanding courage against a strong enemy was an inspiration to all members of his organization and materially assisted in the accomplishment of the mission. Next of kin: Mrs Betty Caldarone (Wife), 123 Myrtle Avenue, Stamford, Connecticut.

II. SILVER STAR. By direction of the President, under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, a Silver Star was awarded to:

Second Lieutenant LEON F AUSTIN, 0547312, Infantry, United States Army. For gallantry in action against the enemy on 19 April 1945 in Brittany, France. Lieutenant AUSTIN led a tank-infantry assault against strong enemy fortified positions at La Desertais, France, on that date. He displayed unusual initiative and skill in planning the operation and directing it on the field of battle with successful results. With great daring he led his platoon to a point within 50 yards of enemy lines; there, he further directed the assault, completely disregarding his own personal safety in the face of heavy hostile artillery and machine gun fire. In order to properly deploy the members of his platoon he moved among them while directing fire of riflemen, mortars, assault guns and artillery. His superb leadership inspired the men in his command, who fought with great courage and deliberation. In the action 25 enemy soldiers were killed and four were taken prisoner. Three members of Lieutenant AUSTIN'S platoon were lost in the engagement. Lieutenant AUSTIN'S gallantry and devotion to duty were in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and reflect the highest credit upon himself and his organization. Entered the military service from Durham, New Hampshire.

Technical Sergeant GEORGE CHUN FAT (Army Serial Number 20014842), Company I, 262d Infantry, United States Army. For gallantry in action against the enemy on 19 April 1945 in Brittany, France. Sergeant CHUN FAT was leading a support squad during a tank-infantry assault on enemy lines through intense enemy artillery, mortar and small arms fire. During the action he observed the tanks had entirely overlooked one strongly fortified position which would threaten the entire assaulting force. Acting on his own initiative he crossed over a hedgerow, followed by the scout of his squad. Within a few minutes Sergeant CHUN FAT reappeared with two German prisoners he had captured at bayonet point. Thoroughly inspired by his daring and courage the other members of the squad then joined Sergeant CHUN FAT and advanced in face of withering fire to destroy the dugout position. His unbounded courage and devotion and his display of heroism contributed to the success of the attack and were in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service. Entered the military service from Hilo, Hawaii.

Private First Class LEON W MYERS (Army Serial Number 34377158), Company I, 264th Infantry, United States Army. For gallantry in action in connection with military operations against the enemy on 22 April 1945 in Brittany, France. On the morning of 22 April 1945, five enemy soldiers approached the position which was held by Private First Class MYERS and one other man and which was being harrassed by enemy artillery fire and another enemy patrol. Private First Class MYERS was wounded and his comrade was killed by machine pistol fire as they prepared to repulse the five attacking soldiers. Despite his wound, Private First Class MYERS continued to fire at the enemy and wounded two of them. Although bleeding profusely, he refused medical attention and returned to his platoon command post where he acted as telephone operator to release a more able man to fight. It was only after the danger passed that he allowed himself to be treated. As a result of his courage and daring, the enemy was repulsed and their attack was broken up. Private First Class MYERS' courageous actions, his determined willingness to continue fighting even though badly wounded, and his coolness under enemy fire were an inspiration to all and in keeping with the highest military traditions. Entered the military service from Jefferson City, Tennessee.

Staff Sergeant JOHN A TALARICO (Army Serial Number 33262901) (then Sergeant) Company I, 264th Infantry, United States Army. For gallantry in action in connection with military operations against the enemy on 22 April 1945 in Brittany, France. On 22 April 1945 under the cover of enemy artillery, mortar, and machine gun fire, two enemy raiding parties struck the line Sergeant TALARICO was defending. One enemy raiding party succeeded in working up a draw and gaining entrance to a group of buildings in which the platoon command post was located. This raiding party consisted of seven enemy soldiers armed with demolitions, grenades, machineguns and machine pistols. Realizing that the command post was in immediate danger of complete annihilation or capture, Sergeant TALARICO assigned another man to command his squad, grasped a BAR and advanced alone towards the group of buildings. Moving around the corner of the first building, he came face to face with a group of four Germans. He immediately opened fire, killing one. The remaining three returned small arms and grenade fire, but Sergeant TALARICO with utter disregard for his personal safety continued to advance firing as he moved. He wounded another German and when he had advanced to within ten yards of the remaining two, they threw down their weapons and fled through the group of buildings. Sergeant TALARICO, single handedly, then routed the remaining five of the seven men from the building area, wounding two as they fled. His complete disregard for personal safety and courage above and beyond the call of duty reflect the highest credit upon himself and the military service and were an inspiration to all. I. SILVER STAR. By direction of the President, under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, a Silver Star was awarded to:

Private First Class ALBERTO ESQUEDA (Army Serial Number 38456813), Headquarters Company First Battalion, 262d Infantry, United States Army. For gallantry in action against the enemy on 19 April 1945 in Brittany, France. Private First Class ESQUEDA, acting as a scout in a combat patrol assigned the mission of ambushing the enemy and annihilating them by artillery and small arms fire, met the enemy in position 100 yards from the feeding area. During the ensuing fire fight, a member of Private First Class ESQUEDA'S patrol was wounded. Without regard for his personal safety, Private First Class ESQUEDA crawled 45 yards forward of his pinned down position through devastating enemy machine gun fire to fire at the enemy positions. He fired an anti-tank grenade into a hostile machine gun position, silencing it, and then continued to pour M-1 rifle fire into two remaining machine

SILVER STAR--Awards I
 BRONZE STAR MEDAL--Awards II
 PURPLE HEART--Awards III

I. SILVER STAR. By direction of the President, under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, a Silver Star was awarded to:

Colonel FREDRIK L. KNUDSEN JR, O11 919, Infantry, 263d Infantry, United States Army. For gallantry in action against the enemy on 13 February 1945 in Brittany, France. When the sector held by our forces was attacked by a reinforced enemy company, Colonel KNUDSEN, with utter disregard for his own safety and in the face of intense rifle, machine pistol and artillery fire, remained in this forward position directing necessary counter measures and the adjustment of accurate artillery fire on the enemy. His coolness under fire and his presence with the troops while under heavy fire served as an example, spurred them to greater efforts and instilled great confidence in the men under him. His gallantry and devotion to duty were in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service. Entered the military service from Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

Colonel LEANDER D SYME, O12 334, Regimental Staff, 262d Infantry, United States Army. During 120 days that his regiment was in combat with the enemy he regularly inspected exposed front line positions, and often maintained his command post under enemy fire. His complete disregard of enemy fire was an inspiration to the officers and men of the regiment, nearly all of whom were under fire for the first time. On 30 January 1945 while inspecting a front line position he learned that one of our patrols had suffered casualties. With utter disregard to his personal safety he immediately crossed an exposed field known to be covered by enemy machine guns, in order to quickly reach a forward observation post from which he could place observed mortar fire on the known enemy positions so as to neutralize their fire and afford protection to the litter squad who had gone forward. Entered the military service from the United States Military Academy.

Colonel JAMES R HAMILTON, O14 627, Infantry, 264th Infantry, United States Army. For gallantry in action on 27 April 1945 in Brittany, France. As Commanding officer of the 264th Infantry, holding an important and extended front-line position in Lorient, France, Colonel HAMILTON displayed great courage and devotion to duty in order to obtain information concerning an enemy artillery shelling and to insure proper defense against the hostile action. With complete disregard for his personal safety he proceeded through heavy artillery concentrations in order to personally direct counter measures and thus reassure his officers and men. His bravery and determination in the face of fire were in the highest traditions of the military service. Entered the military service from Willow Hill, Illinois.

II. BRONZE STAR MEDAL. By direction of the President under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, a Bronze Star Medal was awarded to:

Captain GEORGE W GAGNON, O1 313 235, Infantry, Service Company, 263d Infantry, United States Army. For meritorious achievement in connection with military operations against the enemy from 1 January 1945, to 8 May 1945. Entered the military service from Fargo, North Dakota.

Chief Warrant Officer EDWARD T ASH, W2 122 130, Adjutant General's Office, Headquarters, 66th Infantry Division. For meritorious achievement in connection with military operations against the enemy from 1 January 1945 to 8 May 1945. Entered the military service from Gastonia, North Carolina.

III. PURPLE HEART. By direction of the President, under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, a Purple Heart was awarded to:

Staff Sergeant CHARLES J GREENWALD (Army Serial Number 31 331 911), Headquarters Company, First Battalion, 262d Infantry, United States Army. For wounds received in action against the enemy on 18 April 1945 in Brittany, France. Entered the military service from Fairfield, Connecticut.

Technician Third Grade RAY C ROQUEMORT (Army Serial Number 18 116 672), Medical Detachment, 2d Infantry, United States Army. For wounds received in action against the enemy on 9 March 1945 in Brittany, France. Entered the military service from Texas City, Texas.

AWARD, POSTHUMOUS, OF SOLDIER'S MEDAL

Under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, and pursuant to authority contained in Par 3c, Section I, Circular #32, Hq ETOUSA, 20 March 1944, as amended, the Soldier's Medal is posthumously awarded to the following officer:

Second Lieutenant Bruce H Bode, 01060014, Field Artillery, Liaison Pilot, United States Army, for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy on 1 February 1945, in France. In taking off from a temporary airfield the engine of the plane which he was piloting failed from unknown causes. To avoid crashing into an occupied house with children playing in the yard Lieutenant Bode deliberately changed his course, fully aware such action would lead to a stalling turn at very low altitude and a certain crash at risk of his own life. In the ensuing crash he received injuries which resulted in death. His unusual courage, self sacrifice and strong devotion to duty reflect the highest credit upon Second Lieutenant Bode and the armed forces of the United States. Entered service from New Jersey.

I. AWARD, POSTHUMOUS, OF SILVER STAR--Under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, and pursuant to authority contained in paragraph 3c, Sec I, Circular #32, Hq ETOUSA, 20 March 1944, as amended, the Silver Star is posthumously awarded to the following officer and enlisted man:

Second Lieutenant Robert F Scott, Jr., 0557385, Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action against the enemy on 27 February 1945, in Germany. Second Lieutenant Scott was leading a platoon of Company F * * * Infantry on an attack against * * * Germany. The fighting from house to house and in the roads was fierce. One of his men was seriously wounded and was lying in a sunken place in the road which was covered by enemy machine gun fire, and in danger of further injury. Without regard for his own safety, Second Lieutenant Scott passed through the fire to the wounded man and when attempting to return with him was killed by machine gun fire. His brilliant display of outstanding leadership, courage and devotion to duty reflect the highest credit upon Second Lieutenant Scott and the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from West Virginia.

Staff Sergeant Louis S Rylisko, 31075522, Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action against the enemy, on 27 February 1945, in Germany. Staff Sergeant Rylisko crawled across open ground that was being swept by heavy enemy machine gun, sniper, mortar and artillery fire, to rescue his platoon sergeant who had been fatally wounded. After dragging his sergeant about five yards in a supine position, it became apparent that there was insufficient cover, and Staff Sergeant Rylisko then placed his body between that of his sergeant and the source of small arms fire, but he was able to move only three feet before he was killed. Staff Sergeant Rylisko demonstrated the supreme qualities of courage, bravery, and gallantry in action, reflecting the highest credit upon himself and the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from Massachusetts.

II. AWARD OF SILVER STAR---Under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, and pursuant to authority contained in paragraph 3c, Sec I, Circular #32, Hq ETOUSA, 20 March 1944, as amended, the Silver Star is awarded to the following officers and enlisted men:

Lieutenant Colonel John G Dunlop, Jr., 0348761, Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action against the enemy on 27 February 1945, in Germany. Lieutenant Colonel Dunlop set an outstanding example of leadership, courage, and gallantry to the men of his Battalion by personally leading them into action up the west slope of the * * * River, near * * * Germany, against heavy enemy mortar and artillery fire. He also remained at his OP under heavy fire for the duration of the action when he was not forward with the companies of his Battalion directing their action. Throughout the entire action he instilled courage and confidence among his men by demonstrating superior qualities of leadership and bravery, reflecting the highest credit upon Lieutenant Colonel Dunlop and the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from California.

Second Lieutenant Charles E Mays, 0533244, Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action against the enemy on 27 February 1945, in Germany. On the morning of 27 February 1945, Company F was attacking the town of * * * Germany. Our forces were subjected to heavy machine gun, sniper and mortar fire. Second Lieutenant Mays was leading a heavy machine gun platoon from Company H, attached to Company F. When F Company was pinned down in a building, along with Second Lieutenant Mays' platoon, by machine gun fire, Second Lieutenant Mays deliberately went to the top of the building and exposed himself to the enemy, firing an M-1 rifle in order to draw enemy fire and thus allow his platoon to knock out the enemy weapons. When a sergeant of Company F was wounded and fell in an open field about twenty five yards from the CP, Second Lieutenant Mays deliberately went out under heavy enemy fire and dragged the wounded man to safety. His personal actions, courage, and complete disregard for safety are in keeping with the highest traditions and reflect the utmost credit upon Second Lieutenant Mays and the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from Texas.

When two platoons of his company were pinned down by enemy fire, First Lieutenant Curtis personally advanced forward to a position from which he could ascertain the location of the hostile fire, and successfully directed artillery fire upon them. He then regrouped both platoons and led them on to successfully take their objective. Throughout the attack his superior leadership was an inspiration to his men. His brilliant display of outstanding courage and devotion to duty reflect the highest credit upon First Lieutenant Curtis and the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from Pennsylvania.

* Second Lieutenant Thomas F O'Leary, 02049348, Medical Admin. Corps, United States Army, for gallantry in action against the enemy on 27-28 February 1945, near * * * Germany. Second Lieutenant O'Leary was responsible for the collection of casualties after a difficult engagement that lasted many hours, and had at his disposal several litter squads for this purpose. Second Lieutenant O'Leary personally led his litter squads, under intense hostile fire, exposing himself repeatedly in the evacuation of many wounded, who may well have succumbed before they would otherwise have been evacuated. His courage, determination, and devotion to duty reflect the highest credit upon Second Lieutenant O'Leary and the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from Mass.

First Sergeant Lucious I Murphree, 34049299, Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action against the enemy, on 27 February 1945, in Germany. On the morning of 27 February 1945, First Sergeant Murphree, Company G, * * * Infantry, was in charge of a platoon in the attack on * * * Germany. Twice his platoon had made an attack on the town, and twice they had been repulsed. On the third attempt he demonstrated his unusual ability, perseverance, ingenuity, and leadership, as well as his skillful use of supporting weapons, in capturing * * * and sixty-five prisoners. These prisoners included an enemy Major, a Captain, and a forward artillery observer. There were also six known enemy dead and eight others severely wounded. Eight enemy machine guns were captured, as well as numerous small arms weapons. Throughout the entire action he displayed superior qualities of leadership and courage, reflecting the highest credit upon First Sergeant Murphree and the armed forces of the United States. Technical Sergeant Harry H Stephenson, 20729457, Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action against the enemy, on 27 February 1945, near * * * Germany. Assuming command of a weapons platoon, Technical Sergeant Stephenson, from an exposed position, delivered highly effective mortar fire upon the enemy. Though twice wounded by sniper fire, he refused to be evacuated. With utter disregard for his personal safety, he remained on duty and continued to direct fire. When the enemy counterattacked with approximately sixty men, the withering fire from his platoon repelled the attack and resulted in the surrender of the greater portion of the enemy. His courage, ability, and aggressiveness reflects the highest credit upon Technical Sergeant Stephenson and the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from Missouri.

Technical Sergeant Darwin H Van Houten, 36402119, Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action against the enemy, on 2 March 1945, in Germany. Technical Sergeant Van Houten, while acting as Platoon Sergeant of an Anti Tank Company mine platoon, discovered an enemy mine field. Because it was believed recent artillery fire had activated the mines, and realizing the necessity of marking the field in order to protect the lives of others, he undertook the hazardous task alone, refusing offers of assistance from members of his platoon. Upon nearing the completion of his mission and while probing a particularly dangerous portion of the field, a mine was detonated, seriously wounding him. His courage, initiative, and unusual devotion to duty reflect the highest credit upon Technical Sergeant Van Houten and the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from Michigan.

Sergeant Floyd H Beverage, 35062107, Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action against the enemy, on 27-28 February 1945, near * * * Germany. Sergeant Beverage, Communications Sergeant, purposefully exposed himself in an open window and fired a sub-machine gun in order to draw hostile fire. In so doing, he enabled a machine gun section to locate and bring under fire several enemy gun positions. Sergeant Beverage later crawled across an open field that was swept by enemy machine gun, mortar, artillery, and sniper fire, to rescue a wounded soldier. Throughout the entire attack and during the following day Sergeant Beverage was constantly exposing himself to hostile fire in an effort to keep his company's communication lines repaired up until the time he was wounded and evacuated. During the complete action he displayed the most outstanding qualities of courage, heroism, and gallantry in action, reflecting the highest credit upon Sergeant Beverage and the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from Ohio.

Private First Class Melvin A Schmook, 35062260, Medical Department, United States Army, for gallantry in action against the enemy, on 28 February 1945, in Germany. Private First Class Schmook, company aid man, moved out with the Second Platoon of Company I, * * * Infantry. While attending a wounded man, under heavy artillery and mortar fire, during an attack on * * * Germany, he was wounded by enemy shell fire. As the attack advanced Private First Class Schmook found himself left behind in an open field, with four other wounded men. Due to the situation and extremely heavy and accurate mortar and artillery fire, it was impossible to locate and evacuate the wounded until the following morning. During this lapse of nineteen hours, despite his own serious and painful wounds, Private First Class Schmook, by crawling, located the other wounded and administered First Aid and morphine. In spite of the biting cold, he took off his own jacket in order to cover the most seriously wounded man and prevented the men from becoming hysterical by constantly reassuring and attending them. When a litter party arrived the next morning, he was attempting to drag himself toward the town in order to notify someone of the location of the wounded men. He clearly demonstrated superior qualities of valor and devotion to duty, and his gallantry in action under most trying circumstances reflect the highest credit upon Private First Class Schmook and the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from Ohio.

III. AWARD, POSTHUMOUS, OF BRONZE STAR MEDAL--Under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, and pursuant to authority contained in Par 3c, Sec I, Circular #32, Hq ETOUSA, 20 March 1944, as amended, the Bronze Star Medal is posthumously awarded to the following enlisted men:

During this action he was fatally wounded. His outstanding leadership, calmness, courage, and bravery were an inspiration to his men and reflect the highest credit upon Staff Sergeant Gillespie and the armed forces of the United States. II. AWARD OF SILVER STAR--Under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, and pursuant to authority contained in Par 3c, Sec I, Circular #32, Hq ETOUSA, 20 March 1944, as amended, the Silver Star is awarded to the following officer and enlisted men:

Second Lieutenant Ralph L Hutto, 0547360, Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action, on 22 February 1945, at * * * Germany. After the building in which he was an occupant had been destroyed by a tremendous explosion which killed or injured all in the structure, Second Lieutenant Hutto, a platoon leader in Company B,  Infantry, himself injured and suffering from shock, made valiant efforts to rescue his men from the burning building. With utter disregard for his own safety and under enemy observation, he repeatedly entered the flaming building to pull wounded and dying men to safety, ceasing his efforts only when, barely able to move, and with his clothes aflame, he was forcibly stopped by his comrades. Throughout the operation Second Lieutenant Hutto displayed superb qualities of leadership and courage, in keeping with the highest traditions of the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from South Carolina.

Technical Sergeant Herbert W Smith, 38019924, Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action against the enemy, on 18 February 1945, near * * * Germany. With complete disregard for his own safety, Technical Sergeant Smith rushed into a mine field to give aid to a fallen member of his platoon. When he started out of the mine field carrying the wounded man to safety, the added weight caused him to detonate another mine, resulting in Technical Sergeant Smith being seriously wounded. Although in severe pain he directed the work of his rescuers so skillfully that they were able to remove both him and the other wounded man from the mine field without injury to themselves. Technical Sergeant Smith's heroic action, above and beyond the call of duty, is in keeping with the highest traditions of the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from Oklahoma.

Staff Sergeant Charles A Nesselrodt, 35754189, Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action against the enemy, on 5 March 1945, near * * * Germany. When his patrol leader failed to rejoin the patrol after staying forward to adjust artillery fire on an enemy position, Staff Sergeant Nesselrodt crawled forward, under fire, to see what had happened. Finding the lieutenant seriously wounded, he returned to the patrol and obtained help and completed the evacuation. Throughout the entire action, Staff Sergeant Nesselrodt's display of the superior qualities of leadership, courage, and ability exemplifies the highest traditions of the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from West Virginia.

Technician Fifth Grade Aubrey E Root, 37120490, Medical Department, United States Army, for gallantry in action against the enemy, on 2 March 1945, near * * * Germany. While Company A,  Infantry, was pinned down on a bare hill by murderous artillery, mortar, and small arms fire, Technician Fifth Grade Root, a medical aid man, moved about among the company, with utter disregard for his own safety, and administered aid to all the wounded. While working fearlessly under the heavy concentration of fire, he was wounded by shrapnel but refused medical treatment, continuing to work for seven hours until his company withdrew to new positions, where he was evacuated in a state of exhaustion. His courageous and heroic work saved the lives of many men and reflects the highest credit upon Technician Fifth Grade Root and the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from Nebraska.

Private Lamar R. Shelby, 38675894, Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action against the enemy, on 5 March 1945, near * * * Germany. When a patrol for which he was radio operator was ordered to withdraw to cover while artillery fire was placed on an enemy position, Private Shelby remained in an exposed position with his radio in order that the artillery could be adjusted. After the patrol leader had been seriously injured, and he slightly wounded, Private Shelby returned to the patrol under fire for help. Throughout the entire action Private Shelby displayed the highest qualities of courage, initiative, and ability, in keeping with every tradition of the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from Texas.

III. AWARD, POSTHUMOUS, OF BRONZE STAR MEDAL--Under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, and pursuant to authority contained in Par 3c, Sec 1, Circular #32, Hq ETOUSA, 20 March 1944, as amended, the Bronze Star Medal is posthumously awarded to the following enlisted man:

Technician Fourth Grade Bruno P Runcel, 36405277, Medical Department, United States Army, for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against the enemy, on 28 February 1945, near * * * Germany. While serving as an aid man with Company E, Technician Fourth Grade Runcel, on his own initiative, fearlessly advanced with the forward elements of his platoon, under heavy enemy fire, to treat casualties. Throughout the action his coolness under fire, utter disregard for his own safety, and devotion to duty for which he gave his life, were in keeping with the highest traditions of the service and reflect great credit upon Technician Fourth Grade Runcel and the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from Michigan.

I. AWARD, POSTHUMOUS, OF SILVER STAR--Under the provisions of AR 600-45, 22 September 1943, as amended, and pursuant to authority contained in Par 3c, Sec I, Circular #32, Hq ETOUSA, 20 March 1944, as amended, the Silver Star is posthumously awarded to the following enlisted man:

Sergeant William H Niedzwiecki, 15140675, Infantry, United States Army, for gallantry in action against the enemy, on 27 February 1945, near * * * Germany. After the third platoon of "G" Company had been repulsed twice in their attacks on the town of * * * Germany, Sergeant Niedzwiecki went to the aid of the second squad, and led them on the third attack of the town. He captured the first house with the aid of but one other man. Sergeant Niedzwiecki then volunteered to lead the attack on the next house from which the platoon was receiving heavy fire. While heroically advancing under enemy fire he was fatally wounded. His valiant sacrifice in the line of duty, and his superior display of bravery and initiative reflect the highest credit upon Sergeant Niedzwiecki and the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from Ohio.

Private First Class Raby, with the aid of his litter squad, removed the casualties from the battle field and sheltered them in an evacuated anti-tank position. The casualties were later safely taken to the aid station through heavily mined fields, hilly terrain and intense enemy fire. Private First Class Raby, without regard to personal safety, performed his duty heroically and with great efficiency, reflecting the highest credit upon himself, and the armed forces of the United States. Entered military service from Georgia.
