✓ LAVERNE S. TERRY (Army Serial No. 39002777), Corporal, 161st Infantry, United States Army. For a singularly meritorious act of essential service on the Island of Oahu, Territory of Hawaii, on July 25, 1942. While on duty as a sentry, Corporal (then Private), Terry, acting with courage in the face of danger and under difficult conditions, enforced military orders and insured the security of at least two gun positions. When, in the performance of his duty, it became necessary for Corporal Terry to halt a prowling alien by force, he did not hesitate. In a calm and thorough military manner, he observed all applicable rules for sentries. Observing an unknown person conducting himself suspiciously in the vicinity of his gun position at night, Corporal Terry checked with adjacent positions and then commanded the prowler to halt. When the order was disobeyed, Corporal Terry instantly acted to intercept the prowler. Three more times he challenged. When it became apparent the prowler had no intention of complying with the lawful order and was attempting to escape, Corporal Terry by fire halted the marauder, who, it developed, was an alien enemy. Still conducting himself in an efficient and military manner, Corporal Terry posted guards, called an ambulance, and notified proper authorities to whom he gave a clear and comprehensive report of occurrence. Residence at induction: California.

Before his machine gun could be mounted enemy planes approached strafing the building, whereupon Technical Sergeant Gower cradled the machine gun in his left arm and returned the fire of the enemy planes. He then mounted his gun and continued to man it until the attack was ended. The meritorious conduct of Technical Sergeant Gower on this occasion reflects great credit upon himself and the military service. Residence at enlistment: Mountain View, Arkansas.
